'Baby-Sitting' Duck Keeps Tab On Tot

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Who would ever dream of a one-year-old baby sitter?

Whether you would or not, there is one in Lincoln at the Mrs. H. R. Pierce residence at 5744 Adams. This baby sitter, however, has adopted its own ward and would probably not give any other tot a tumble.

Like all good baby sitters, it not only keeps the child in tow, but won't let anyone but the mother near the baby.

Besides its unique age for its job, this baby sitter is also unusual because of its ancestry. It's a full-grown, white duck.

Adopted Baby

Mrs. Pierce's duck, "Deacon," has adopted one-year-old Frankie Dimaio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dom Dimaio who live in an apartment at the Pierce residence.

"The duck," said Mrs. Pierce, "has an imaginary boundary it has outlined in the front yard in which it keeps the baby confined. If the child attempts to wander beyond the boundary, the duck jumps in front of the baby and quacks loudly until the child turns the other way."

Little Frankie fell down the front steps one day this week and "Deacon" held himself personally responsible. From that day on, Mrs. Pierce said, the duck has not let the baby near the steps.

When Mrs. Dimaio brings Frankie out into the yard for his exercise, "Deacon" drops everything and takes over. "Deacon's" regular pal, Mrs. Pierce's dog, plays second fiddle when Frankie shows up.

No one who lives in the three apartments at 5744 Adams can get near the child except Mrs. Dimaio without "Deacon" spouting forth with a burst of quacks.

Farm 'Protection Without Chains' Promised

By DON WHITEHEAD

OMAHA (AP)—A roaring overflow crowd of 17,000 people welcomed Dwight D. Eisenhower here Thursday night to climax the hardest hitting day of campaigning since he began fighting for the presidency.

All day long he raked the Truman administration with the heaviest barrage of scorn, criticism and accusation he has used since he won the GOP presidential nomination.

He topped it off before a jam-packed Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum with an appeal for the midwest farm vote. He spoke from the same stage where four years ago President Truman had talked to scant 1,500 in his fight for re-election.

Besides a crowd of 12,000 that jam-packed the Coliseum tonight, another estimated 5,000 persons sat in their cars outside and heard Eisenhower's talk over loud speakers.

(An estimated 100 cars left Lincoln in a caravan bound for Omaha to hear the general's address. About 20 more cars joined the procession at Ashland, making a total of nearly 400 GOP backers.)

He promised farmers in his speech for delivery here Thursday night that a Republican administration would give farmers economic protection "without putting them in federal chains."

And he proposed establishing an improved farm credit system, directed by a board to be chosen by farmers themselves, to form credit policies and "to see that sound credit operations will not be endangered by partisan political influence."

"We will remove the federal domination now imposed on the farm credit system," he said.

Ending a busy day of whistle stopping across Iowa and into Nebraska, Eisenhower declared a better future for farmers depends on getting rid of what he called "a tired administration" in Washington.

"The truth is," he said, "that the present administration is trying to shunt us off on detours that lead not to freedom of opportunity, but to the strictest kind of regimentation."

And he said an administration which "believes it has 'implied powers' to seize the steel industry from its owners must also believe it has the 'implied power' to take over your farm."

Eisenhower gave these views in the prepared text of his second major farm address in two weeks.

They came at the end of a day of gloves-off attacks on the administration at whistle stops where crowds gathered to cheer him on his Midwest tour.

Eisenhower continued to blast the administration in his farm speech and he credited Republican leadership in the past with developing many of the basic farm programs.

Eisenhower called for a better soil conservation program with greater participation by farmers. He insisted this program has not yet been fully developed and has been marked by confusion.

He also called for a stronger system of agricultural education, research and extension.

"Agricultural research and education have been neglected by this administration," he said. "... We are going to change that... It will take a new administration to get this job done."

Eisenhower also said the Republican Party believes in farmer co-operatives and "we fill not let them be endangered—we shall aid farmers to strengthen their own institutions."

During the day, Eisenhower talked in Iowa at Davenport, Wilton Junction, West Liberty, Iowa City, Marengo, Brooklyn, Grinnell, Newton, Des Moines and Atlantic. Then he crossed the Missouri River late in the day to speak here.

Friday, the Eisenhower special will head south through Nebraska, cross into Missouri and then continue on to Kansas City.

—Office Expenses Paid By GOP Backers—

Nixon Concedes He Used Private Fund

Los Angeles Banker Confirms Senator Given $16,000 During Past Two Years; Used For Travel, Printing And Clerks

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Disclosure Thursday that Sen. Nixon (R-Calif) accepted financial aid from private sources to defray his office expenses brought a sharp Democratic demand that Gen. Eisenhower ask Nixon to resign as his running mate.

The Washington campaign headquarters of the California senator and Dana C. Smith, Los Angeles lawyer and banker, confirmed reports that the GOP vice presidential nominee has been aided to the extent of $16,000 to $17,000.

Sen. Nixon

Smith said that a privately donated fund by "Independent California Republicans" has been retained in trust with himself as administrator to help Nixon operate his senatorial office.

The admission brought a sharp reaction from Democratic National Chairman Mitchell who said General Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, should call upon Nixon to resign as No. 2 candidate.

Mitchell declared that "the challenge to General Eisenhower is simple." He said that Ike, Nixon and the general public know that existence of the California fund was morally wrong.

Action Defended

At Merced, Calif., Nixon said the fund was used to help pay his political expenses which he felt should not be charged to the federal government.

The GOP vice presidential nominee is making a rear-platform, whistle-stop train campaign through California enroute to Oregon and Washington.

Nixon said: "The facts concerning this fund which approximated $16,000 in the past two years are as follows:

"It handles postage for mail on which I don't choose to use the much-abused senatorial franking privilege."

He said it helped defray travel expenses, cost of printing speeches, extra clerical help—which he said he could have obtained at the taxpayers' cost.

At Sacramento, Nixon, apparently unconcerned, commented:

"It's an attempted political smear. Why not ask Sparkman (Democratic vice presidential nominee) to resign because he has his wife on his payroll?"

Smith said in confirming a story that Sen. Nixon had received aid totaling more than $16,000:

"There is a fund retained in trust which I handle. The fund was raised by California Republicans who felt the allowances given Nixon by the government are not sufficient to administer the office of such importance. California is too big a state and has too large a population for the allowances granted by the government."

Smith said that "We've sent $16,000 or $17,000—I don't know the exact amount—and plans are to send more if needed. The amount expended to date covers the period of Sen. Nixon's election to the present date."

He emphasized that no donor to the Nixon fund has asked any favors, and if they were to do so their further contributions would be turned down.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said he has "understood for years" that senators from states with larger populations have to use private funds to pay part of their expenses.

Aiken added: "The first one I heard of doing that was a democrat. Part of his expenses were taken care of by his state Democratic Central Committee. Since then I have heard of others getting outside help."

Coal Producers To Work Mines All Week-End

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government official said Thursday night a number of coal producers plan to work their mines Saturday and even Sunday to produce as much coal as possible before an expected strike Monday.

Charles W. Connor, defense solid fuels administrator, told a reporter that some 20 to 25 coal operators in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and other states have made arrangements with the government for the unusual weekend production.

Connor's agency has issued an order freezing unsold coal stocks at mines to be struck Monday by the United Mine Workers Union. The freeze was effective at midnight Thursday.

JOSEPH SHORT

Secretary Short Dead

... Truman's Press Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph H. Short, President Truman's press secretary, collapsed and died at his home in nearby Alexandria, Va., Thursday night. He was 48.

The White House said he was taken ill a week ago last Tuesday night, and spent several days in the hospital. He returned home Monday and apparently had been recuperating.

Short had been White House press secretary since Dec. 18, 1950.

He Succeeded Ross

He was appointed to the position following the unexpected death of Truman's previous press secretary, Charles G. Ross. Ross collapsed at his desk and died shortly.

His widow and three children survive.

President Truman said in a statement:

"Joe Short's death is as shocking to me as if he had been a member of my own family.

"For he was more than a trusted and valued assistant. I know how unsparing of his health he was in his service to me and to his country. Despite every urging that he rest, he labored day and night for uncompromising principles. . ."

United Chest, Red Cross Drive Goal Is $467,653

A goal of $467,653 has been set for the united campaign of the Lincoln Community Chest and the Red Cross for 1953.

Of this goal for the 30 agencies, $110,000 is the Red Cross amount, Albert A. Held, president of the Chest, explained.

"The total goal, therefore, is only a small amount more than was raised by the Chest and the Red Cross for funds in 1952," he said.

Last year the Chest goal was $342,684, and the Red Cross goal was $106,000.

Slight increases in the Chest agencies' budgets are due to increased costs of agency services, Held said. He reminded the public that to meet this combined goal, all previous donors would have to contribute at least the same amounts as before but in one campaign.

Members of the budget committee for the Community Chest and Council of Social Agencies, headed by co-chairman Robert Simon and A. C. Glandt, are:

Mrs. J. Knox Jones, William Haydon, Garrett Vryheit, Elvin Wait, George Randol, Carl D. Ganz, Mrs. E. A. Frerichs, Herbert Henderson, Ed Becker, George X. Smith, Mrs. Ellery Hall Davis, Clara Miskell and the Rev. David Gracey.

Application For Auditorium Material Expected Next Week

The city's application for an allotment of critical materials with which to construct a new city auditorium may be made next week.

Walter F. Wilson, member of the Associated Auditorium Architects, said the Architects would have the application ready probably the first of next week. Under terms of the contract approved with the Architects by the City Council last Monday, a determination of necessary critical materials for the structure was the first thing to be prepared.

The contract also provides the Architects shall not proceed with the preparation of detailed plans on the auditorium until the government has acted upon the materials application.

And that action, according to City Purchasing Agent Forest Moelier, coult easily be in the affirmative.

"Based on the results of past applications for critical materials made by the city," Moeler said, "I see no reason why the auditorium application should be turned down."

The city has been successful in getting federal approval on materials needed for other city projects such as storm sewers.

Also, before the Architects get too far along in their planning, they and other city officials will probably make a trip to Sioux City, Ia., to view the auditorium there. City Councilman Clark Jeary said he intends to push such a trip in hopes of the Council and the Architects gaining some valuable information on the construction and operation of Lincoln's auditorium.

John Martin Hurt In O Street Crash

One person was injured late Thursday night when two cars collided at 12th and O, sending one of them off the street on to the sidewalk.

John F. Martin, 27, of 1440 Q, suffered lacerations about the skull and a possible leg injury when his car collided with a car driven by Dan Norris, 18, of 5326 Prescott.

City Streets Speed Limits To Be Eased

Lincoln's speed limits are to be adjusted upwards under terms of an ordinance that will be introduced to the City Council Monday.

The new limits are in accord with the speeds being traveled by motorists. Welfare and Safety Director Ray Osborn said the old limits are now obsolete.

"Let me stress, however," warned Osborn, "that there will be no 'tolerance' under the new limits. The posted speed limits will mean exactly what they say."

The Police Department has previously been overlooking drivers going so far over the existing limits because of their so called "horse and buggy" heritage.

The new speeds will be 25 miles per hour throughout the city except on arterials where the limit will be 30 and in some few areas such as So. 10th, West O, No. 48th, etc., where the speed will be 35 miles per hour.

The old limits were 15 miles per hour in congested areas, 20 in residential areas and 25 on arterials.

The changes have been approved by the Police Traffic Department and George Barton, consulting traffic engineer from Chicago.

2 Die After Car Crashes

... One Injured Critically

Nebraska's accident fatality count for 1952 soared to 241 Thursday with two more deaths recorded as a result of crashes on state highways.

One of the deaths occurred in a two-car head-on crash two miles east of the Elmwood turn-off on Highway 34. Three other persons were injured in the same accident.

Killed was Mrs. Karol Davis, 22, of Lafayette, Ind., a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Henry, one of the injured persons.

In the other car, headed west, were Harold F. Washington, 25, St. Joseph, Mo., who was critically injured, and another unidentified man.

The accident occurred at 10:30 p. m.

The other death was that of Mrs. Violet Stephenson, 22, of Fairmont, who died in a York hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday when the Stephenson car was in collision with a truck.

That accident occurred northeast of McCool Junction where the Stephensons had attended a funeral. The dead woman's husband was slightly injured and the truck driver was unhurt.

Stevenson Tells Hartford Listeners:

Ike's Endorsement Of 'All' Is Bad Policy

Sen. Benton, Who Wants McCarthy Ousted From Congress, Warmly Endorsed By Adlai

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson declared Thursday night that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's blanket endorsement of all GOP nominees—"good, bad, indifferent"—is a dangerous policy and could lead to "a sorry day for healthy democracy."

Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for the White House, rapped particularly at his Republican opponent's call for re-election of Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, who once charged that Gen. George C. Marshall is "a front man for traitors."

Speaking to a capacity crowd of 3,500 persons in Bushnell Memorial Auditorium, Stevenson got a big hand when he came up with a warm endorsement of his own for Sen. William Benton, Connecticut Democrat, who wants GOP Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin ousted from Congress.

Earlier, on his arrival in Connecticut, Stevenson dsecribed Benton as "fearless and courageous."

ROUSING OVATION

Stevenson received a rousing standing ovation when he was introduced.

In his text, Stevenson said Eisenhower's blanket endorsement policy amounts to "pursuit of power at any cost" and is one "distasteful to any honorable man."

In delivering the speech, however, the Illinois governor omitted that part.

Stevenson also appealed to Republicans to join with Democrats in working toward an international system for control of atomic power.

Appeals To Republicans

The Illinois governor put it this way:

"To my Republican listeners I would say: The atomic adventure transcends partisan issues. Win or lose, we Democrats will work with you to follow this adventure to the end of peace and plenty for mankind."

Stevenson came to Hartford Thursday night for his first major campaign address on a tour which will take him during the next week into four other states—Massachusetts, New York, Virginia and Maryland.

Eisenhower has said he is supporting all GOP nominees because he believes winning control of Congress from the Democrats is just as important as winning the presidency—and that otherwise there could be no party responsibility.

Russia Paid In Full By Finns

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A gleaming "golden schooner" was turned over to Russia Thursday night by Finland in the final payment of the 570-million-dollar war reparations bill the Soviet imposed on the Finns.

The schooner is so called for its many fittings of shining brass and copper and for the symbolism of the treasure wrung oft of Finland by Russian dictate.

This was the last of 91 Finnish-built ships turned over to Russia. Now the Finns don't owe a ship or ruble to Moscow.

CAP Cadet Recruits' Training Program Opens

A new training program for cadet recruits was inaugurated this week by the Lincoln squadron of the Civil Air Patrol.

An experimental program, it consists of a six week basic course including military courtesy, basic aerodynamics, the organization and history of CAP, and other material from the U.S. Air Force Aviation Training Manual.

About 15 cadets are enrolled in the course, which is conducted by WO Philip J. Koopman, and meets at 7 p.m. Wednesdays at the University of Nebraska Military and Naval Science Building.

The course is open to all CAP cadet recruits.

'Spirit Of Action' Stressed Before Meeting Of CYO

Rev. Matthew Vetter of Des Moines, Ia., gave three rules to carry forward "The Spirit of Catholic Action," as he addressed more than 500 Catholic young people assembled at a dinner meeting of the 12 annual Lincoln congress of the Catholic Youth Organization Thursday evening at the Cornhusker Hotel.

He set down the following points:

"One: Talk about your faith. Most non-Catholics have some rather odd notions of what Catholics believe in. If we would just talk—the right word at the right time—we could let them know of the love that most of us have for Christ.

"Two: You must act as Catholics. Everywhere you go, you are a walking advertisement for the Catholic Church. You should invite your non-Catholic friends to visit your church.

"Three. Never let a single piece of Catholic literature go to waste. Pass it on to a friend—you may never know how much good it will do."

In conclusion, Rev. Vetter cautioned: "Don't be a 45-minute Catholic. Give all your time to the cause of Christ.

"Anyone who says modern youth is going to the dogs," he said, "should see the response that you young people have given."

Rev. Vetter was introduced by Bishop Louis B. Kucera of Lincoln who thanked the more than 25 priests attending the dinner, for "their efforts in Catholic youth work." He gave particular thanks to Msgr. G. J. Schuster, CYO Director of the Lincoln diocese.

The dinner was followed by a dance at the University of Nebraska Coliseum for CYO members; and, for the priests, a colored slide lecture by Rev. C. A. Green of Lincoln, entitled "Flight Around the World."

The 1,000 youths attending the congress earlier heard Rev. Godfrey Poage, Chicago, advocate spiritual, intellectual and emotional compatibility as the grounds for a successful marriage.

Rev. Poage, national director of the Catholic Vocational Club, advised the youths that such things as appearances and popularity were secondary to the above requirements.

He reminded the young people that they "must live with their partner, not just look at them." He stressed the need of such qualities in an individual as courtesy, unselfishness, responsibility and ambition.

Contrary to that thought, Rev. Poage pointed out that in a recent survey in Chicago, teen agers generally listed some physical attributes as the first thing to consider in choosing a partner for marriage.

In an afternoon session, the Catholic youths broke up into groups of 30 for "workshop" discussions. Topics were "How I Can Make My Youth Club At Home More Successful" and at what time dates should be over at night.

PRELIMINARY DISCUSSION — Talking over some of the details they will present to the Catholic Youth Council members are Fathers Godfrey Poage (left) and Matthew Vetter. (Star Photo.)

Regions in the Lincoln diocese represented at the two-day meeting are Davi City, Crete, Fairbury, Falls City, Hastings, Lawrence, Indianola, Orleans, Plattsmouth, Lincoln, Wahoo and York. More than 75 priests are also in attendance.

The sessions were opened Thursday morning with a solemn pontifical mass at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Presiding over the opening sessions was the Rev. C. J. Keenan. The congress will close Friday morning with the election of new Diocesan Youth Council officers.

Promised Cuts Disappear; State Budget Requests Up

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Office seekers' glib promises to reduce state expenses do not appear to be borne out in the budget requests which are now pouring daily into the office of Tax Commissioner Philip Johnson from the various operating offices, agencies, bureaus and commissions.

With the fun requests broken down by the various departments as to types of expenditures no total can be estimated of needs for the biennium starting next July 1.

Johnson said that as usual some of the larger expending agencies have been granted an extension of time in which to submit their budgets in order to get estimates as accurate as possible.

He pointed out the assistance department as an example. They will need experience from operation under the changes made in the law at the special session before they can estimate their needs, he explained.

Selected at random from the huge pile of budgets that have been given Johnson and with no attempt to quote explanations given by the agencies a sample of the budgets showed:

	1951 app.	Request
Pardon Board	$ 28.853	$ 40.000

Ike's Speech 'Ill-Advised,' Morse Says

. . . Senator Takes 'Stroll'

From Press Dispatches

NEW YORK — Sen. Morse (R-Ore), accused Gen. Eisenhower Thursday of making what Morse called ill-advised and grossly unfair statements on the Taft-Hartley law before the AFL convention.

Morse, in a speech prepared for delivery before the New York labor gathering, paid limited tribute to Ike for facing the labor issue "fairly and courageously."

Following his blistering talk, Morse was asked by newsmen whether he was "taking a walk" from the Republican Party.

"I am certainly taking a stroll as of now," he replied.

Pressed to state whether or not he would vote for Eisenhower, Morse declined to answer the question. Several days ago, Morse had announced he would not campaign for Eisenhower but would vote for the Republican candidate.

But he lashed out at what he termed "the fantastic document of political compromise" between Eisenhower and Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

Raps GOP Platform

Morse promised the GOP presidential candidate full support in helping to revise the labor law if the Republican is elected but made no further reference to supporting Ike's campaign.

The senator attacked the GOP platform as being "all things to all men," and defended programs of farm support, social security and medical health against charges that they represent socialism.

As for walking out on the GOP, Morse departed from his prepared text to say:

"The junior senator from Oregon never intends to walk out on Lincoln's Republicanism. He only pleads with his party to return to the Republicanism of Lincoln."

Will Stay In Party

He was asked if he intended to remain in the Republican party.

"Oh, yes," Morse said, then added:

"Anytime they want to repudiate me, I will go back to private life."

Morse commented to newsmen of Eisenhower's chance in November:

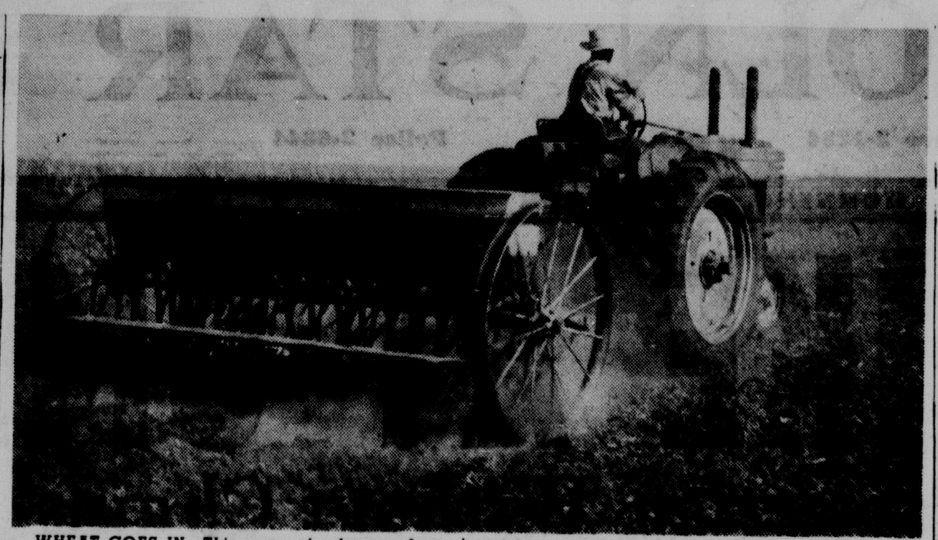

"As of now I think Gen. Eisenhower is ahead."

REDS REGAIN 'OLD BALDY'

SEOUL (AP) — Chinese troops smashed to the crest on shell-stripped "Old Baldy" on the Korean Western Front early Friday and—shortly before noon—hand-to-hand fighting still raged.

A frontline officer reported Allied troops were battling bunker to bunker to drive off the Reds. The assault was descibed as mounted by two companies, possibly a battalion. This could mean about 800 Reds.

"Old Baldy" was secured by U. S. Second Division troops Aug. 2 after see-saw battles in July in which the U. S. 45th Division lost, regained and then lost the hill again. The Chinese last took the crest July 22, and were smashed off it on Aug. 1.

President Of Union College Describes An Educated Man At Student Gathering

"An educated individual knows enough of history, nature and science to understand the past achievements of mankind and the principal present processes upon which human life and happiness depend," Union College President Harvey C. Hartman said Thursday.

Speaking at the first convocation of upper division students on "Portrait of an Educated Man or Woman," Hartman stressed eight characteristics of an educated person.

Members of the lower division at Union College will hear President Hartman speak at a convocation Friday.

"A college educated man or woman has habituated the ethical virtues of honor, honesty, helpfulness, goodwill and cooperation. While conscious of his power, he is aware of his limitations and in humble reverence will know how to worship and commune with God," he told the students.

Pointing out that an educated person is "able to think and study without supervision," and has been trained to "use the tools of human intercourse—especially language—with readiness, precision and accuracy," Hartman said he also will show originality and is not a mere imitator.

"He has developed his own sources of intellectual and aesthetic enjoyments, knowing enough of nature, literature, music and art to enable him to choose superior rather than inferior enjoyments," he continued.

And in addition to having a cultural finish, the college man or woman has been trained for a specific occupation, he added, "focalizing his activity on the development of some specific efficiency."

After the college's first convocation of the fall term, President and Mrs. Hartman honored new staff members of Union College at their home, 3803 South 48th, with an afternoon reception.

The guests of honor, the new faculty members, include:

J. Randall Sloop, assistant business manager, Southwestern Junior College, Keene, Tex.

Miss Hilda Ferne Remley, dean of women, Sunnydale Academy, Centralia, Mo.

Earl Leonhardt, mathematics, University of Nebraska graduate student.

Mrs. Justine Friedrich, home economics assistant, Union College.

George Lewis, laundry superintendent, Walla Walla College, College Place, Wash.

R. A. Johnson, Union College Academy principal, Berrien Springs, Mich.

Mrs. R. A. Johnson, English, Barrien Springs, Mich.

Warren Murdock, chemistry assistant, Union College.

Neil Rowland, biology department head, Enterprise Academy, Enterprise, Kan.

Richard Randolph, music, Union College.

Robert Firth, business administration department head, Maplewood Academy, Hutchinson, Minn.

Miss Betty Ann Christensen, music, Southwestern Junior College, Keen, Tex.

Miss Elaine Schander, elementary school, California.

Don Smith, maintenance supervisor, Union College.

J. C. Stevens, building superintendent, Lodi, Calif.

Robert Wagner, elementary school, Alaska.

Milo Anderson, physics assistant, Platte Valley Academy, Shelton, Neb.

Church Deputies Reject Resolution Aimed At McCarthy

BOSTON (AP)—The Protestant Episcopalian church's House of Deputies rejected Thursday a resolution calling for fairness in congressional probes, a resolution which some objectors said was directed at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The resolve, previously adopted by the House of Bishops in the current triennial general convention of the church, said in part:

"Fair-minded men have been shocked in recent months by accusations of a most serious nature levelled against respected citizens, unsupported by any factual evidence."

It was sponsored by the Rt. Rev. William Scarlett, bishop of Missouri, who said in an interview he was prompted by Sen. McCarthy's "shocking attack" on Gen. George Marshall.

Five Burglaries Solved By Arrest Teen-Age Sisters

Two teen-age girls arrested by police, have admitted thefts totaling $630 in valuables and money. The arrest of the two cleared up five burglaries that took place in Lincoln over the past two months.

When caught with the goods, the girls — sisters — had in their possession 10 skeleton keys they used in gaining entrance to apartments and homes. One of the sisters, 17 years old, was wearing a blouse she had lifted from the counter at Sears and Roebuck.

Also cleared were the following thefts:

Three rings and several pairs of shoes, total valuation $501, taken from an apartment at 1426 L, belonging to Mabel Stranik.

A wrist watch valued at $75, taken from the apartment of Mrs. Della Pierce, at 1029 A.

Two coin banks valued at $8.25, stolen from the apartment of A. L. McCune at 1637 R.

A radio and $20 in cash taken from the apartment of Scott Ogelsby at 2131 O.

Fifteen dollars in cash stolen from 4825 Calvert.

Rites Pending For 2nd Victim Of Auto Crash

Funeral services are pending for Harold J. Smith, 77, 5000 Madison, who died early Thursday at a Lincoln hospital. His was the second death following a one-car crash on Highway 2 east of College View Monday evening.

Mrs. Jessie Blaker, 77, of 3325 Randolph, who died Tuesday, was the first fatality from the accident in which two others were injured, one critically.

Mrs. Harold J. Smith, wife of the latest victim, is listed in "critical" condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Driver of the car which went out of control and smashed into a concrete culvert, she suffered a fractured right leg and severe chest injuries.

In "good" condition was Joe Blaker, 75, husband of Mrs. Blaker. He sustained a fractured right leg and a dislocated left shoulder.

Mr. Smith, a native of Pennsylvania, was associated with the Smith Brothers Lumber Co. at University Place. He attended school in Nemaha County and at Nebraska Wesleyan University, and in 1897 he joined his father in the operation of lumber yards at Table Rock and Elk Creek. He had been at University Place since 1905.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church, Masons, and Odd Fellows, and was a former member of the University Place Council, the board of education, and the University Place Business Men's Association.

His was the eighth traffic death in Lancaster County this year, compared with six at this time last year. There have been 239 in Nebraska so far this year, compared with 231 at this time in 1951.

Inadequacy Reports On Jail 'Tempest In Teapot'—Barney

"A tempest in a teapot" is the way Chauncey Barney, chairman of the Lancaster County Board of Commissioners, described the reports of the inadequacies of the County Jail.

"The commissioners, the sheriff, the state fire marshall were satisfied that the extensive repairs made on the jail a little over a year ago were enough," Barney stated. "I don't think conditions have changed since that time."

Barney pointed out that, under existing Nebraska statutes, the county has the right to use the city jail facilities.

Sheriff's Quarters

"Instead of recommending a new jail, I would suggest that we use the one-third of the building now used as sheriff's quarters to house prisoners," Barney continued. The commissioner observed that providing sheriff's living quarters in the jail was a "matter of historical arrangement, not of law."

Nebraska laws governing the erection of county jails are confused, according to Barney. "The county commissioners have the power to determine whether or not a new jail should be built, but we would not do so without bringing the matter to a vote of the people in a general election."

Barney emphasized that the commissioners have no plans to construct a new jail.

The commissioners made their regular inspection of the County Jail Tuesday but did not make any sweeping recommendations to the sheriff.

They suggested the purchase of more bedding, a routine bedding cleaning, prisoners cleaning their own quarters, more reading material and making up menus a week in advance for checking by the commissioners.

To alleviate the crowded condition of the jail, the commissioners recommended that County Sheriff Merle Karnopp use the city jail, the Detention Home for prisoners under 16, and the possibility of converting the living quarters to cell blocks.

Sheriff Karnopp stated, in a press release handed out Thursday, in part, "The conditions which exist in Lancaster County, and I am sure in other counties, have the answer only by an honest study of the Legislature. As Sheriff of this county I do not know the answer to obtaining proper facilities. I do believe that the handling of prisoners and unfortunates is not alone the problem of this county."

The sheriff stated that his jail handled 37 prisoners over the week end. Facilities at the jail were planned to accommodate a maximum of 33 prisoners.

"My prime desire is for the rehabilitation of prisoners," Karnopp said. "We can't rehabilitate prisoners when we are forced to put first offenders in the same cell with hardened criminals."

Plan Titanium Smelting

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Jiji Shimpo says the Japanese government will subsidize titanium smelting with a production target of 1,000 tons next year.

Titanium is a rare metal, slightly heavier than aluminum but harder than stainless steel. It is essential for production of jet aircraft engines.

'Fire Blight' Hits State Apple Crop

New Disease Is Similar To Cancer

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

The disease which struck so heavily this year at apple trees in Nebraska has been compared by an orchard expert to cancer in the human body.

William Wessel, foreman at the University of Nebraska's experimental orchards at the agriculture college, said the disease is known officially as "fire blight," and that it has already devastated pear and apple orchards in Iowa.

Many orchardists in apple-growing regions in eastern Nebraska are discovering this month that their apple crops—especially the popular Jonathan variety—have been damaged by the blight and unfavorable weather.

Canker Forms

Wessel said the blight affects the trees by a "canker" which forms on the "one-year growth" section on the tips of branches. This is the section which has grown out in the current year. The blight darkens the wood, kills off twigs and buds and spreads inward toward the trunk.

Often, he pointed out, the tree cells have enough vitality to resist the spread of the cancerous growth, but many young trees are killed.

In treatment the blight is also similar to human cancer. Wessel said the application of chemicals has little effect, but that the best means of stopping its spread lies in cutting off infected wood, burning the trash and sterilizing the cutting tools later.

Good Start

The blight seems to have been given a good start by the cool wet weather of 1951, the orchardist said. However, the experimental rows of apple trees at the college are producing well this year with little damage from fire blight.

The trees in the college plot are now heavy with fruit, including many varieties which are not as susceptible to blight as are Jonathans. Apple varieties now bearing fruit at the college include: Golden Delicious, New Form, Sharon, Joan, Duchess, Webster, Cortland, Wealthy, Melba, Turley, four Minnesota experimental types and two varieties of crab apple.

This year's apple crop is the first in many years that has not yielded a large and profitable production to Nebraska orchardists.

Efforts toward an agreement on changes in the Supreme Court decree allocating waters of the Platte River which was sought by the state of Colorado made little progress in an all-day meeting at the statehouse Thursday.

Bert Overcash, assistant attorney general, had prepared a stipulation for consideration of Colorado and Wyoming and the federal government which could be submitted to the court.

Nearly every representative at the meeting had suggestions for changes in the wording and when complete agreement was not reached the group adjourned until Oct. 23. The next meeting will be held in Colorado.

The interested groups have been holding meetings for a period of months seeking agreement.

Walter Williams, Washington, D. C., attended to represent the Department of Justice and Director Avery Batson, together with members of his staff, came from Denver to represent the Bureau of Reclamation.

Attorney General Harry Harmsberger headed the Wyoming representatives and Gene Bridenstein, attorney for the Colorado water board, headed representatives of that state.

Nebraska was represented in addition to Overcash, by Dan Jones Jr., Lincoln, director of the bureau of irrigation, and Fred Klietsch, Bridgeport, assistant bureau chief.

'53 Conservation Plans Under Way

Plans for 1953 agricultural conservation work were made recently in all farmer fieldman districts, according to Frank W. Reed, chairman of the state Production and Marketing Administration committee.

This week county and community PMA committeemen, Soil Conservation supervisors and technicians, county agents and other county agricultural groups are selecting conservation practices to be used in each county for 1953.

When the programs are selected, community committeemen will visit each farm in each county. Farmers may sign up for conservation work then. According to Reed, farmers will be urged at this time to employ practices most needed on the individual farms to prevent erosion and to maintain fertility of the soil.

City 'Leaf Hoppers' Apartment Hunting

The little green "leaf hoppers" which have plagued Lincoln residents in varying degrees the past several nights are merely "apartment hunting."

Prof. O. S. Bare, of the College of Agriculture's entomology department, said these insects, a specie of the cicadellidae (leaf hopper) family "congregate in large swarms and migrate in the fall" while seeking winter quarters in which to hibernate.

The "leaf hoppers," varying with the species, are harmful during their feeding period to potato plants, alfalfa, grapevines, and even grass and weeds, but are practically harmless this time of the year.

Prof Bare explained they are more prevalent in the eastern states. They may be around for several weeks, or could disappear any night with a "cold snap," which would hasten their hibernation.

Although plant feeders, the "leaf hoppers" will bite human beings. Their bite is harmless, but somewhat painful.

Autumn's Approach

Highway plantings and shelterbelts have contributed generously to the Nebraska scene. Shortly the leaves will be turning.

Two ingredients seem to go into the most appealing of Nebraska fall scenes. One is a sharp frost. Another is moisture ahead of the frost—sufficient moisture to head off the drying of the leaves until Jack Frost has had opportunity to ply his brush with unexcelled, superb artistic skill.

There is a beauty to the intermingling scarlet, yellow and brown of the timber clumps that line the streams or the meadows of Nebraska. One of the best contributors to autumn's delight are the sumac clumps native to this state. They adopt a saucy, gay, impudent approach to the winter that lies ahead. But the walnut and the oak, the cottonwood and the ash all kick in with their gifts, and they are gifts not to be scorned. Not the least in the Nebraska scene are two retiring members—the bittersweet and the wild grape—both of whom seem to seek out for themselves a retreat hidden from the eyes of man. But those who will take the trouble to find them are well rewarded by the delicate shadings which identify them at this time of the year.

Another year of growing things—and it has been an excellent one in this state—we find ourselves edging toward gray skies overhead, the call of geese and ducks in the darkness of the night, and finally a landscape of dancing snowflakes.

Must The Cities Always Lag?

There were two most thought-provoking stories in the news columns of the Thursday morning Lincoln Star. One told of the flight of a guided missile over land and sea to blast a distant target in the uncanny perfection of a scientific age. The other —an echo of a primitive civilization—revealed that the metropolitan city of Omaha had started to dump raw garbage into the waters of the Missouri River, to the possible detriment and threat to the lives and health of people downstream.

★

Time and again the American people are reminded that no expenditure of wealth is too great for the destruction of life and property—and all too frequently when we get down to government on the lower level, we can't scrape together a comparative few dollars to protect the property and the life of the peoples of America's cities and rural areas. Why? Must the cities always lag? Must we always find city government—not solely the government of the city of Omaha—all too often it appears that Lincoln's city government is equally helpless—dragging its feet, failing to anticipate its problems, adept at finding excuses for not doing something rather than exploring and discovering ways to get the job done.

★

Both Omaha and Lincoln are governed under a home-rule charter. They live under a home-rule charter in order that it will not be necessary for their governments to go to the Legislature to secure the authority for those steps necessary to good city government. They can act without waiting for legislative approval. They can undertake those steps deemed necessary for the welfare of their peoples. They have the opportunity but they lack the vision, the imagination, the will to do what obviously needs the doing.

★

We doubt that in any field of government in the United States has there been more stumbling, more fumbling, or more bungling than in the lives of the towns and the cities. There are exceptions, of course. There are instances where men of inspired vision seek in the most unselfish sense to contribute to city government.

★

But when it comes to the state, and even more so, to the city, usually we find men filling key posts in government utilizing the trust imposed in them by their election as a stepping stone for something higher up. We find them thinking, talking, dreaming of the day when they serving as mayor may look ahead to election as governor—or, if governor, hungering so much they can taste it to be a member of the House of Representatives in Washington or a United States Senator. So instead of applying themselves to the problems nearest them, they eat, drink, talk and sleep developments hundreds of miles away. Naturally the sovereign state suffers and the cities find themselves neglected.

★

A people capable of developing a guided missile should be able to find a solution for the disposal of raw garbage. When it gets down to taking care of garbage in Omaha, its leaders, its newspaper, and apparently its people much would prefer to talk about those wicked bureaucrats back in Washington than find a way out of avoiding pollution of the waters of the Missouri River. Time and again it has been demonstrated that if we did not spend all our energies on national government, we might not be spending so much money for national government, and we might be doing a better job here at home.

Behind Every Fixer

"I should like to point out that public officials don't corrupt each other; that behind every bribe-taker in government is a bribe-giver, behind every fixer is a fix, behind every influence-peddler is someone who wants the influence, behind every lobbyist is a pressure group. Who are they? Why, they are the people . . . and sometimes they are . . . the same respectable people who demand that all the officials in government should be cleaner than the governed, cleaner than themselves."—extract from a statement by Gov. Stevenson in pledging his best, with ruthless objectivity, to clean up corruption in government.

And where do you start if actually you are going to uproot corruption? Is it with the dope who takes a bribe or do you go after the one who gives a bribe? If the job is done in a thoroughly workmanlike way, we are inclined to think that reasonable people will admit that both the taker and the giver are guilty, equally guilty. Certainly the man who takes a bribe, who peddles influence, who serves as a fixer, is no more guilty than the man who gives a bribe, seeks to contaminate his government through influence methods, or hires a fixer.

The two are guilty and ought to be dealt with ruthlessly in even-handed justice. There would be no corruption in public life unless those in private life inspired it. There would be much less fixing, bribing, or influence-peddling if people in an atmosphere of respectability in private life did not prompt the corruption. That is not Democratic doctrine, nor Republican doctrine. It is simply common sense. We have seen the fire centered upon those in public life but for some reason we have not seen equal emphasis given to those offenders who occupy a status in private life.

★

This is not to condone nor defend the erring public official. This is to direct attention to the source of corruption which, if left untouched, simply means that when the noise has died down, will remain unpunished.

★

Clearly Gen. Eisenhower has a lot to learn. He can talk about the mess in Washington but that is about as far as he goes. If he really wants to get at corruption in a thorough-going sense, he must deal with those who inspire the corrupting as well as those who execute it.

The Troubled Oil Of Iran

This man Mossadegh of Iran remains one of the most unusual figures on the world scene, a man ordinarily placed under the heading of either fanatic or strategist. There is no denying the fact that he is without doubt a man of iron will, refusing to swerve from his course despite any type of pressure put on him. He also has succeeded in getting most of what he wants, which would label him a master strategist, even if his methods are unorthodox.

The frail Mossadegh is in and out of hospitals with such rapidity that it is difficult to keep tabs on him. He is given to fits of crying, which is hardly standard diplomatic procedure. When he flew to New York last October to inform the United Nations that it had no jurisdiction in the British-Iranian oil dispute, he successfully had the matter tabled. Then off to Washington he went, where he stayed not at a hotel but at a hospital, and passed through a marathon of conferences which availed nothing to our State Department. Mediation with the Russians is almost a picnic compared to the incredible crust and persistence of the Iranian premier at the conference table.

The major weak point in Mossadegh's armor is time, which he feels is running out on him. He is in a hurry, and he is willing to resort to polite —and sometimes not so polite—blackmail. This government has come to the conclusion that the best thing to do is sit and wait. When dealing with someone like Mossadegh, it is probably a wise decision.

Wanted: Two More Miracles

Gone are the days when the magnificent Yankees, powered by such greats at Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri and Dickey, could nail the American League pennant to the Yankee Stadium flagpole in late August. The trend in recent years has been a hairline finish in both major leagues, and baseball fans like it a lot better that way.

Last year, of course, provided the ultimate in thrills. What fan could ever forget those never-say-die Giants, 13½ games behind the hated Dodgers in the late stages of the campaign, coming steadily from behind, doggedly chasing the Brooks, until on the final day of the season they caught them? And breathes there any man who can push from mind that dramatic moment in the last half of the ninth inning in the playoff, when Bobby Thomson stepped to the plate and socked the ball into the stands to give the Giants the most unbelievable of victories?

The World Series once was the climax of a baseball season but the last few years it has been more of an anti-climax. The pennant races themselves, geared to test the endurance of fans, have provided the agonizing delight for those among us who watch the box scores.

This year the Cleveland Indians are chasing the Yankees—not the Yankees of yesteryear but nevertheless a solid ball club. In the National League there is a repetition of the dog-eat-dog battle of last year, with Leo Durocher's Giants trying to run down the men from Brooklyn.

Will the Indians succeed? Will the Giants stage another miracle finish? These are questions which the coming days, precious few, will answer. The only certain thing is that next year they'll start all over again.

Working Press And Ike Don't Like Each Other

WASHINGTON — Ike notes — Despite his intensive campaign, Ike's chances don't look good in Adlai's home state. This is the first time since Abe Lincoln that Illinois has had a chance to put a native son in the White House . . . GOP chances in Ohio look better since the Taft-Eisenhower breakfast. Dave Ingalls, Taft's cousin and campaign manager, telephoned a Cleveland banker shortly thereafter asking for a sizable contribution. The banker demurred. "This is a real deal now," argued Ingalls. "The Dewey crowd are not going to be in the picture at all, and we are going to have a big hand in the patronage." . . . Relations between Ike and the press are not too friendly. Though Ike has 75 per cent of the newspapers for him, plus a terrific advance build-up, he and the working press aren't happy with each other.

Adlai's gift of words continues to disturb GOP managers. That was the reason for the gibe at Stevenson's humor. Good ghost-writers are rare, and Ike's strategists have been doing their best to find some, so far with not much luck. . . . Ike's friend and original campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, is in trouble in Massachusetts; also the GOP candidate for governor, Congressman Christian Herter. Ike will do his best to bolster them, but it seems doubtful he will carry the state himself . . . Reason why Sen. Taft is so sore at Ike's No. 1 strategist, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, is that Adams campaigned all through New Hampshire, calling Taft an isolationist . . . Dan Tyler, GOP chairman in Massachusetts, is worried over losing the big write-in vote that went for Ike in the primary. These independents are bigger in number than the Democrats or the Republicans. They could be alienated by Ike's swing to the right.

ADLAI'S WEAKNESS

If Stevenson loses in November, part of the fault will lie at the doorstep of his newly picked, naive Democratic national chairman, Stephen Mitchell.

The other day Bert Gross, crack research expert for the Democrats, turned in his resignation and walked out. Reason: a rule that every piece of research had to cross the chairman's desk before going to the White House or Springfield.

Result was a bottleneck. The overworked Mitchell couldn't pass on the research. Nothing moved.

The same is partly true of the Democratic organization today. Chairman Mitchell has done little about the South, has let the great state of Texas seethe to the verge of a GOP victory, has let southern California continue as disunited as ever, and until recently had no central Stevenson headquarters in Boston.

The new chairman has been either unfamiliar with these local situations or hasn't been able to delegate authority.

Turbulent Texas he has left in the hands of Speaker Sam Rayburn, who delayed a Stevenson organization meeting until three weeks after the Shivercrats announced for Eisenhower; also in the hands of timid Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who complains because he didn't get the vice presidency, and is so worried over his own re-election that he's thinking more about 1954 than about Stevenson in 1952.

In New Mexico, Sen. Dennis Chavez has a secret deal with Republican Gov. Ed Mechem to send Chavez back to the Senate now, then elect Mechem against Sen. Clinton Anderson, Democrat, in 1954. Naturally this doesn't make Anderson anxious to help Chavez now.

These are some of the trouble-spots a strong Democratic chairman should be ironing out. Mitchell hasn't.

RUMOR FACTORY

Rumors are like mushrooms. Once they get started they keep on growing.

Some time ago the Hollywood Reporter reported that Lady Sylvia Ashley, ex-wife of Douglas Fairbanks and later of Clark Gable, had been "squired around Nassau by Stuart Symington, aide to the governor."

Shortly thereafter the same report appeared in a New York gossip column. Only this time, the item omitted the fact that Stuart Symington was "aide to the governor." There happen to be two Stuart Symingtons: one the former director of the RFC now running for the Senate in Missouri; the other a Britisher and aide to the governor of the Bahamas. He happens to be single.

People, reading the New York column, began talking about an impending divorce in the Stuart Symington family—the Missouri Symingtons. Symington happens to be one of the most happily married men in public life, but the rumor kept on spreading.

Eventually the rumor came back to Symington from a friend who asked. "Stuart, what's this story I hear about you and Greta Garbo going around together?"

☆ ☆ ☆

COSTELLO RUMOR

Another rumor erroneously current is that David Charnay, crack New York public relations man, handled publicity for gangland leader Frankie Costello. I came near falling for this rumor myself one time.

However, careful investigation convinces me that Charnay was no such thing. As a newsman he once knew and wrote stories about Costello. But they were critical stories. However, the rumor kept cropping up to such an extent that Charnay was cross-examined by the Kefauver crime committee, which could find nothing to substantiate the rumor.

Though probed by Kefauver, Charnay harbored no grudge.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ike: Massive And Slow; Adlai: An Alert Terrier

CAMPAIGNING WITH GOVERNOR STEVENSON—One thing about this presidential contest has not always been true in the past campaigns. The two candidates are dissimilar, utterly dissimilar, in almost every respect.

To begin with, they could hardly look more unlike than they do, with the single exception that they are both almost entirely bald. While Stevenson is on the short side, somewhat stocky, he has a brisk, quick tempo that comes out in everything he does. Ike appears in contrast to be massive, slow-moving, deliberate.

It is, above all, the way in which each candidate approaches the campaign that the contrast comes out. Stevenson is talking about issues of the day and in considerable detail. He is attempting by reason to persuade the voters, or enough of them, that he understands the problems before the country and is capable of leading the nation through continuing storms ahead.

☆ ☆ ☆

While this is an oversimplification, Ike's approach is an emotional one. As he frankly told the workers in the "Citizens-for-Eisenhower" office in New York, he believes people are reached through emotion rather than reason.

He is appealing to deep impulses of loyalty, patriotism, religious faith.

With Eisenhower this often seems to add up to the desire of a great many Americans to return to a simpler way of life when the burdens of the world would not rest on American shoulders. When Ike throws out the hope of a time when "your sons" will not have to serve in armies sent overseas, he skirts the isolationist position. This is a long way from his own recorded stand for universal military training.

Stevenson takes a pretty stern line about the future. He talks about the serious responsibilities ahead if America is to meet the threat of Communist aggression. This generation, he has suggested, may not see the end of the time of trial and trouble through which we are now passing. It is only if the nation meets this challenge that we can see ahead in the further distance peace in a world of freedom.

This sternness is, of course, seasoned with the now highly controversial Stevenson humor. It comes natural to him—the irony, the sarcasm, even what seems now and then to be flippancy. It is a part of the fluency with language that comes out in almost every speech he makes. And, for many, those speeches are a joy to read in the way in which the telling points are knit into a tightly constructed whole.

The humor does not mean that Stevenson is lacking in seriousness. Rather, in the view of this reporter, it is an escape hatch for a man who all his life has been intensely serious. He assumes that others also will welcome the break in what is for him an undertaking freighted with toil and care and continual worry.

Stevenson is far less capable of really relaxing than is Eisenhower. In the past, at least, when Ike had finished a job, he put it out of his mind and turned to bridge or canasta or to western stories, which he reads voraciously. Many Eisenhower supporters have privately complained of this. They say he had not done his homework.

Rarely, except in an occasional game of tennis, does Stevenson let go of it—it being the situation, the problem, the crisis. He is like a very alert terrier who gets a bone, worries it, shakes it, never lets it alone. Some have wondered how he stands the concentration he brings to everything he does.

That same concentration is going into his campaign. Stevenson is acutely aware of how much he must make up for in the ignorance of most of his fellow Americans about who he is, what he stands for and what he has done up to now. When this campaign is ended, perhaps no candidate in our political history will have covered so much ground, both literally and figuratively. He means to discuss every phase of each issue in as thorough a fashion as time will permit. And if it is humanly possible, he is going to get into every corner of the United States to carry on this discussion.

So here they are, these two so very different men, going around the country in the traditional way, offering their wares to the voters. Hope rises and falls mercurially. Two weeks ago the Stevenson camp was full of confidence that was certainly unreasoning. Now there has been a noticeable shift. The Eisenhower backers are jubilant at the enthusiastic crowds turning out to see their candidate. And the men around Stevenson are beginning to realize the formidable task ahead in making their man known. That is what this latest strenuous tour is about, just as it will be in the days ahead in the cities and towns and crossroads of America.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

On Keeping Cool Until The Waitress Comes

By MONA B. PARKER

There are signs of it in the air and in the press . . . in fact, Monday is the day and "The-n-n it won't be long," Cliff Buckendorf reminds us in The Rock County Leader, "before we unpack the old red flannels, get out the overshoes and earmuffs and settle down for a long winter."

"September is almost as coy and temperamental as April," in Mrs. J. W. Tyler's book. The Peru Pointer columnist adds . . . "One day she wants to be a mature lady in dignified garments of rich, warm colors and the next she reverts to a hoyden in midriff and shorts. . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

Lisle Hanna glanced around the Harvard countryside, could see a hint there of change of seasons, too . . . "One can notice a difference in the color of the green on cornstalks and ears . . . it won't be long before both of them will have turned a dry, tannish yellow."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Plattsmouth Journal was wondering who among its farmer-readers had the longest ear of corn in his field, offered a year's subscription to determine that fact. . .

Sutton Businessman Jake Serr wondered the same thing in his community. He had $75 to split for the five largest and heaviest ears produced in Clay County. There was only one string attached to Mr. Serr's offer. All corn exhibited or brought into the contest would be shelled and sold, the proceeds going toward buying a respirator for Sutton. . .

☆ ☆ ☆

W. H. Plourd took note of all the Nebraska hay being trucked south to Oklahoma and other drought areas, and was a little concerned over the supply right here in the state. "We hope we have been raising enough here to supply these distant users and those in our own state as well," said he, in The Nance County Journal. "If we haven't, we may be looking for hay from a distance ourselves this winter."

☆ ☆ ☆

State Fair memories lingered in two editorial minds in sets of three. . .

For Bill Lee, Dakota County Star, it meant:

(1) Men whose feet hurt and wanta set down.

(2) Women whose feet hurt and do set down.

(3) Youngsters whose feet never hurt, and so never sit down.

For Frances Berns McNair, Blue Hill Leader, it was even more fundamental than that. For her it all boiled down to standing in line . . . hurrying . . . waiting. . .

☆ ☆ ☆

The Kearney Hub dispatched a reporter and a camera posthaste to investigate a cornpicker in action east of town. He found a two-row picker in the field and evidence that it had been at work. A chat with Richard Peterson, however, revealed that they had only been picking a wagonload to feed to the hogs. While considerably ahead of this time last year, corn is still too green to crib.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Hub was in on another mixup, but only setting forth facts. The mixup was in the names, themselves. There is a Hazzard family living in Miller, a Miller living in Hazard, an Axtell living in Kearney, and although there are Kearneys living in Kearney, apparently none yet whose residence is in Axtell. . .

☆ ☆ ☆

The Grant County Tribune pointed a finger of scorn at some unknown culprit with a banner, "They Should Be Ashamed!"

Someone had stolen a five-gallon can of gasoline off the rural fire truck. There might have been serious consequences, The Tribune pointed out, if the truck had been called upon for service near Hyannis and had been unable to reach the blaze. . .

☆ ☆ ☆

A visitor to Omaha observed this incident in a cafe there, was telling it appreciatively to Holdrege friends. . .

A noisy diner was trying to attract the attention of a waitress who was busy at other tables. He was making quite a commotion, and finally bellowed: "What do you have to do to get a glass of water in this dump?"

At which the waitress whipped around and snapped: "Why don't you try setting yourself on fire?"

☆ ☆ ☆

Twenty-four years ago on June 8, 1928, Fred Harris, then living with his parents on a farm east of Bristow, dropped a bottle containing a note into Ponca Creek, asking the finder to write to him.

This week, the Bristow mayor received a letter containing the same note, informing him that the bottle had been found July 20 at Onawa, Iowa.

Mr. Harris now lives at Ashland.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Gering Woods family spent a recent week in the company of "the Manhattan city slickers," and the editor pondered over an inability to account for tastes. "The young man of the Woodshed spent his first evening in the big city reading comic books purchased in Gering, pausing at intervals to expectorate Gering sunflower hulls out the window or leaning out precariously to watch the progress of the shells down some 14 floors. . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

And Zela H. Loomis has seen his first flying saucer. The Columbus editor was driving through North Platte when he saw it . . . "It was one of the paper variety, rolling on edge, straight as a die, nearly a block in the downtown street, definitely violating the speed limit. Its motive power was a high wind."

53-Cent Dollar

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Maybe we will wake up to the fact that something is radically wrong with our financial system, or our planned economy. It looks to us old timers as if Canada could teach us a lesson in financing. Their dollar is about seven cents above par, and ours about 47 cents below.

Arthur Sears Hennings' explanation of the cause of inflation is our going off the gold standard. But did we go off the gold standard? No. We are using it to this day, forcing foreign nations to buy our gold in order to trade with us. Is it not this very leverage that is forcing foreign nations to seek their own financial economy. And where will we be when they have succeeded? Canada is just one nation. M.D.S.

Lincoln's Auditorium

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We plan a parlor and get a dog house. And the taxpayer pays or plays the fiddle or fiddler. I refer to the auditorium. The people were promised the whole thing with all the trimmings and all they will get will be the trimmings.

The cost will be about the same and the citizens will have perhaps half an auditorium. Why not build one with recreational facilities and all the other trimmings where it should be, or else forget the whole thing and landscape the grounds between 15th and 16th at M and N Streets and make a park where the aged can find benches to sit on? America and Lincoln need a change. ISAAC B. FLINT

Norris Example

Minden, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I see the Republicans have a great corruption platform. I wonder if they had corruption during the Republican administration. There was the Teapot Dome scandal, and we had it pretty bad in Hoover's time. The banks went broke and people lost money. People had no work and no money and Hoover couldn't do a thing for them. Old people had no pensions, farmers mortgaged and lost their farms, and received 35 cents for wheat, and people stood in bread lines.

But the Republicans forgot that, and speak now of a "Truman war." Congress wouldn't appropriate more money to keep the soldier there; we had to bring them home. So that puts the blame on Congress instead of the President for this war. We have had corruption in government for many years. When Sen. Norris of Nebraska was in the Senate, he could tell you how they bribed men. He left the Republican party and joined the Independents. That, in itself, is a good example.

Dr. Niven Is Re-Elected By State Baptists

Convention Re-Names All Officers

Dr. James Niven, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Omaha, was re-elected president of the Baptist State Convention during the closing session Thursday morning.

Three other officers were re-elected for 1953: Guy A. Olmsted, Fremont, vice president; H. J. Askey, Omaha, treasurer; and the Rev. J. Melvin Elving, Omaha, secretary. Dr. Verner Olson, Omaha, was elected historian.

Dr. John W. Harbaugh of Tekemah was selected to deliver the annual sermon next year at the state meeting in Alliance First Baptist Church. Dr. Ernest E. Smith, Lincoln, is the alternate.

Final Speaker

Final Convention speaker was John A. Dawson, of Chicago, president of the American Baptist Convention, who discussed "ties" binding Baptists together.

The five ties Dawson stressed were: Baptist "distinctives," history, missionary endeavor, youth fellowship work and "the challenge" lying before them.

He told delegates to the Conference, for which 532 were registered, "The American Baptist Church is rated by the International Missionary Council as the most efficient, the most effective missionary organization in the world."

The Chicago businessman who is speaking at State Conventions throughout the country, said the Baptist Church is accredited with "winning more souls to Christianity per capita" through missionary work than any other major denomination. The average number for each missionary is 592, he said.

Members elected to the board of managers for the term expiring in 1955: Wayne Schmitz, Broken Bow; the Rev. A. J. Larsen, Pawnee City; Charles Pollard, Farnam; the Rev. Reuben Kruschwitz, Alliance; Dr. John Harbaugh, Tekamah, and Mrs. Ed Noren, Superior.

Board of managers members to complete the term expiring in 1954: the Rev Glenn A. P. Peterson, Kearney.

Ex-Officio members: Mrs. O. E. Kingery, Lincoln; Joyce Walker, North Platte; Frank McCreary, Lincoln; John Nelson, Fairbury.

Other new officers are: Mrs. Ralph Wood, Omaha, trustee, Northwest Baptist Home Society; R. C. Harriss, Fremont, trustee, Sioux Falls College; Albert S. Johnson and Richard O. Williams, Lincoln, representative to the Temperance League of Nebraska; Dr. E. E. Smith, Lincoln, the Rev. C. R. Mattison, Lincoln, and R. B. Elrod, Lincoln, all members of the Nebraska Council of Churches; Dr. A. H. Webb, Lincoln, Mrs. M. J. Stuermer, Lincoln, the Rev. Wayne A. Dalton, Grand Island, and Mrs. W. G. Evans, Omaha, trustees for Nebraska Baptist Student Council.

Elected to the Board of Promotion were: the Rev. W. H. Dickinson, Omaha, Dr. A. H. Webb, Lincoln, Albert Thompsen, Omaha; Frank McCreary, Lincoln; Mrs. O. E. Kingery, Lincoln; Joyce Walker, North Platte; the Rev. R. C. Kruschwitz, Alliance; the Rev. Robert Williams, North Platte; Mrs. George Schroeder, Omaha; Wendell Gangwish, Gibbon; Mrs. J. R. Burke, Omaha; Albert S. Johnston, Lincoln; Mrs. Gordon H. Schroeder, Lincoln; the Rev. Wayne Dalton, Grand Island and Dr. W. James Niven, Omaha.

Delegates attended a breakfast Thursday morning at the First Baptist Church honoring Dawson. Dr. Ernest E. Smith, Lincoln, was master of ceremonies.

During the noon meeting of the board of managers, a committee was appointed to investigate and report on candidates for executive secretary of the Nebraska Baptist Conference from which Dr. Leslie Eads, Omaha, has resigned.

Secrecy Wrap Taken Off Fantastic Arctic Air Base

Polar Cold Beaten By Engineers

By ELTON FAY

THULE, Greenland (AP)— The United States Thursday took official secrecy wraps off its fantastic Arctic air base. A brood of jet interceptors already is using the still unfinished Thule airdrome perched almost at the frozen top of the world.

Officials also put a price tag on the project — an estimated 263 million dollars. Col. Robert W. Humphreys, commander of Thule, said 185 millions have been appropriated so far; by the end of the construction year now nearing 165 millions will have been spent.

Thule Air Force Base and its operations installations cover 90,000 acres in a great, sprawling amphitheater walled at the back by the rim of the Greenland ice cap, fronted by a fjord opening on Baffin Bay.

It can handle the biggest strategic bombers or swiftest landing jet fighters existent or planned.

Paved Runways

Beating the problem of eternal polar cold and flint-hard ground, constructors have put down miles of paving for runways, and built hangars, machine shops and housing.

A 1,200-foot radio tower keeps the strategic forward air base in touch with Washington and other lines in the chain of American defenses.

Heavy bombers like the B-36 or the all-jet B-52 now in production could use this base as a stepping stone for long strides deep into Eurasia. Facilities for supply are in abundance.

Two heavy maintenance hangars, where the biggest planes can be taken in out of the frigid cold for service or repair, were finished during the urgent first year of construction. Four more are going up now with workmen racing against the oncoming winter.

Race Against Time

An air of urgency hangs over all the effort—a race against time to be ready for possible attack and a more immediate race to beat the second winter since the project began.

What salaries are paid construction men? Lt. Col. Austin J. Hall, Army engineer in charge of construction, says the maximum rate for skilled workers like power shovel and crane operators is $4.20 an hour, with time and a half for overtime beyond 40 hours a week. These men work 10-hour daily shifts seven days a week, so their salaries are high.

Project managers get $8 an hour; also with the overtime provisions. The minimum rate for unskilled labor is $2.67 an hour.

There is no population here to provide a pool of native labor.

PLANES BRING SUPPLIES TO GREENLAND BASE—A C-124 Globemaster, one of the transport planes used in airlifting supplies and equipment, is parked on a snow-covered portion of a giant U.S. air base being built in Thule, Greenland. In the background are other transports. When ice packs prevent movement of ships, planes must be depended upon for supplies. The Defense Department describes the base near the top of the world as "on of our largest and most important ones." (U.S. Air Force Photo via AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

Accidents In Home Outnumber Traffic Mishaps By 4 To 1

There were more than four times as many accidents in the home than there were traffic accidents in Lincoln from the six month period between March and August, Safety Director Gifford D. Mullins, Lincoln - Lancaster Safety Council, reported.

Reporting a total of 732 home accidents recorded against 132 traffic accidents, Mullins based his home accident figures on three hospitals' records.

"It must be made clear that the number of home accidents would be considerably more if we were to receive reports from doctors' offices," he added, "for many times, cases are treated in the office and never reach the hospital."

Of the 732 home accidents, 270 involved falls, and 161 of those falls were experienced by children up to 14 years of age. A total of 314 of the 732 occurred in the yard and in the kitchen, Mullins said.

Mary Pickford Says No

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Mary Pickford announced Thursday night that she has withdrawn from the starring role in "Circle of Fire," slated to have been her first movie since 1929.

Miss Pickford explained in a letter to Producer Stanley Kramer that she was withdrawing from the starring role because no technicolor commitment had been obtained for the film.

Truman Denies He Ever Asked Ike To Command Rail Workers

No Threat To Resign By General

. . . Newsmen Are Told

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Truman denied Thursday that he ever asked Gen. Eisenhower to take command of railway workers who might be drafted into the Army to prevent a strike.

The President, at the same time, denied that the GOP presidential candidate ever voiced a protest against such a purported request, or had threatened to resign as chief of staff.

Mr. Truman said at a news conference that as far as he was concerned no such incident ever took place.

Mr. Truman acknowledged, however, that he was not speaking for anyone except the President and that Eisenhower may have talked such a matter over with someone else in government.

Flat Denial

The President thus threw back at the Republican presidential candidate a statement made to the AFL convention in New York that he was requested in 1946 to assume command of railway men if they were drafted into the Army in order to prevent a nationwide rail strike. He said he registered a "bitter protest," and threatened to resign.

Questioned about Eisenhower's statement at his news conference, Mr. Truman said flatly that he knew that no such conversation took place and that, further, he knows that the chief of staff of the Army would never tell the commander-in-chief that he would not obey an order.

The President added that such a thing is just not done.

An aid interrupted to suggest to the President that Eisenhower might have had such a conversation with someone else.

Tags It Political

Mr. Truman said that if that were so, it still was without his knowledge and that nothing of the incident described by Eisenhower had taken place as far as he was concerned.

The President insisted that there never was talk of Eisenhower being put in command of any railway workers because the railway dispute was settled before a strike was called and as he began to speak to Congress about the threatened strike.

The President said that the whole story was created out of political air during the present campaign and that it is a political matter entirely.

Mr. Truman was told by a newsman that "informed sources" in the Eisenhower camp had told reporters that the President was informed that Eisenhower would resign as chief of staff rather than act as strike breaker.

Mr. Truman retorted that he was sorry, but the informed sources were grossly misinformed.

The questioning then turned to Eisenhower's attack on Democratic presidential candidate Stevenson's "wisecracks" in the present campaign.

Mr. Truman said that in his opinion Stevenson is making some fine speeches and that if the Republicans do not like his jibes at them he is sorry their skins are so tender.

DEMOCRATS

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes, a life-long Democrat, announced Thursday he will vote for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president.

Byrnes To Vote For Ike

"I shall place loyalty to my country above loyalty to a political party," Byrnes told a news conference at his State House office here.

Byrnes, a former secretary of state and U. S. Senator, told the state Democratic convention here Aug. 6 that at that time he would have voted for Democrat Adlai Stevenson "with some misgivings." The misgivings, he said, were because of parts of the national Democratic platform.

He said then he reserved the right to determine later who would get his vote.

Says "Enough"

"If you want more of the Truman administration," Byrnes said in his statement Thursday, "you should vote for Gov. Stevenson. If you have had enough, you should vote for Gen. Eisenhower."

Byrnes also said he thinks Eisenhower "could do more than any living American to bring about an end to the war in Korea and prevent our stumbling into another World War."

Eisenhower also is better qualified to reduce military spending after the end of the Korean War and to reduce taxes, Byrnes declared.

"When Gov. Stevenson was nominated," Byrnes recalled, "because I preferred to support the national Democratic ticket and because of my personal regard for him, it was my hope he would disassociate himself from the policies of the present administration. He has not done so."

REPUBLICANS

DES MOINES (INS) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell Thursday demanded an immediate audit of the campaign fund contributed by "Independent California. Republicans" to defray office expenses of Sen. Nixon, GOP vice-presidential candidate.

Mitchell Asks Audit

Mitchell, in Des Moines to direct a 15-state Democratic strategy meeting, charged that the fund amounted to "subsidizing a United States Senator" and called for a complete audit and public listing of names of donors and amounts of their contributions.

The Democratic chairman also questioned whether an accounting of the expenditures in Nixon's behalf had been "accounted for on income tax forms."

Commenting on reports that none of the donors have asked special favors and future contributions would be refused from any who might request such attention, Mitchell said:

"At any rate, Nixon is beholden to the givers."

Mitchell also reiterated a statement earlier released from his Washington headquarters calling on GOP presidential candidate Eisenhower to request Nixon's withdrawal as No. 2 candidate on the Republican ticket on grounds his acceptance of the fund was "morally wrong."

Mitchell added that "maybe this occasion will bring out the real facts of the Grunewald contribution." He referred to reports that Henry Grunewald, alleged "influence peddler," made a $5,000 contribution to Nixon's campaign fund in the 1950 senatorial election.

Avedovich Will Quit State Assistance Post On Oct. 1

Myer Avedovech, assistant director and business manager of the state assistance department has resigned effective Oct. 1, the state board of control announced Thursday.

"Personal considerations of a compelling nature," he said, made it imperative that he return to his home in Portland, Ore., and give up the $8,000 a year state post. Avedovech said that he had sought to be relieved of his duties a month earlier but had stayed on at the request of the board to complete some unfinished work.

Mrs. Harold Prince, chairman of the board, said the resignation was being accepted "with deep regret."

Avedovech said that during the year he has been in the post "significant" changes have been carried out "which we believe have been very much to the benefit of the operation of public welfare in the state."

Interest Cited

A greatly increased interest on the part of county commissioners, who under Nebraska law are responsible for administration of the biggest expenditure of funds in the state, has been obtained, Avedovech explained.

During the war, Avedovech was general manager of the Grand Island ordnance plant operated by the Quaker Oats Co. and shortly after retired but was persuaded by the board of control to return to aid in streamlining the business operation of the multi-million dollar relief setup.

Procedures, which were under fire by the legislature, were changed to return responsibility to counties which over the years had been assumed by paid personnel.

Avedovech expressed belief that most of the needed changes have been made although further savings are possible in the administration if suggestions made to the counties are carried out.

The board has just completed a three-day session with representatives of the federal government reaching agreement on the final draft of some of the streamlined procedures.

In his letter of resignation, Avedovech said that it was only because of the cooperation of the board of control that he has been able to make whatever contribution he has to the betterment of administration of the program.

Mrs. Prince pointed out that among the accomplishments of the resigning business manager was closing of all of the regional supervisory offices in the state, a marked reduction in employes in the state headquarters and simplification of the reporting forms so as to be better understood by county boards and reducing the number of employees needed.

While in the East, the Lincoln rector delivered sermons at St. Luke's Cathedral in Portland, Me., and at Grace Church in Norwood, Mass. At the convention, he was a member of a committee considering the proposition of giving churchwomen a voice in the general convention legislation.

Sterling F. Mutz represented the local Diocese as a lay deputy and Mrs. E. T. Bechtold participated in the presentation of the United Thank Offering at the convention.

Nebraska City Plans Boycott Of Omaha

Fury Grows At Dumping Of Garbage

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb.—(Lincoln Star Special)—Mayor Victor Bremer of Nebraska City reported Thursday that this city's Chamber of Commerce has threatened a wholesale and retail "boycott" of Omaha if the larger city goes ahead with plans to dump garbage into the Missouri River.

He made the statement following a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce called to protest the dumping of garbage.

Omaha plans to dump its approximate 80 tons of garbage daily into the river as a result of the recent legislative ban on feeding raw garbage to hogs. Omaha garbage had previously been fed to hogs.

'Drastic Step'

The Nebraska City Chamber of Commerce announced that it will definitely send a letter to the Omaha chamber which will state that the businessmen and citizens in general of Nebraska City are "strongly considering boycotting Omaha in both wholesale and retail trade if Omaha garbage is dumped into the river."

Said Mayor Bremer:

"This is a drastic step I suppose, but that's how we feel. Omaha hasn't shown us much consideration in this matter. I personally feel that they can find other means of disposing of their garbage, but they seem to be determined to go ahead and dump it into the river."

Omaha is about 52 river miles above Nebraska City.

Meanwhile Thursday the Omaha alcohol plant experimented to see if garbage could be made into fertilizer, feed or some other products.

Joseph D. Palester, general manager of the Omaha plant, said "We don't know if anything will come out. We're just experimenting."

The government-owned plant, operated by the Central States Corporation, plans to quit alcohol production Oct. 1 because of lack of demand.

Because the alcohol plant Thursday was taking the city's entire garbage output for its experiments, no garbage was dumped into the river during the day.

The plant hand-sorted the garbage, then toasted it at 300 degrees to dry it out and kill bacteria. The end product is a sort of dried mash, brownish in color with a not unpleasant odor.

One question was: Does the processed garbage have value as feed?

Another: Is the processing commercially feasible, from a cost standpoint?

State Certified Seed Output Good Quality

About 50 certified seed and corn growers attending the annual hybrid corn day at the University of Nebraska Thursday were told that the best certified seed corn crops in years has been produced in the state this year.

Clare Porter, secretory of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association which sponsored the event, urged growers to get seed crops harvested and dried down to 12 per cent moisture before freezing weather.

Warren Sahs, manager of the Foundation Seed Division, reported that 24 single crosses were produced this year and all came through the season in fine shape. He urged the production of a greater acreage of white seed for growers in view of the large premium now being paid on the market to corn growers for white corn over yellow corn.

Progress Related

Dr. John Lonnquist, corn breeder at the University's Agricultural Experiment Station, spoke about progress in the use of male sterility corn. He said some of this material has advanced to the point where it can be used in hybrid production. Use of male sterility corn will eliminate the need for detasseling seed fields.

David P. McGill, assistant in agronomy, told the corn growers that four promising new corn hybrids are showing up. Their yields are superior to current certified hybrids and three of the four new promising hybrids involve lines developed at the Nebraska Station.

J. C. Swinbank, extension agronomist, told the visitors of the need for more comparative yield data between certified and commercial hybrids.

Norfolk Doctor Asks Dismissal Of Damage Suit

OMAHA (AP)—Dr. G. B. Salter, Norfolk physician, has asked that a $40,000 damage suit pending against him in Federal District Court here be dismissed.

The suit, filed by Harry Sikes, Gregory, S. D., alleges that Dr. Salter was "negligent" in treatment of two broken legs Sikes suffered in an auto-motorcycle crash at Ewing, Sept. 4, 1950.

Dr. Salter, in an answer to the suit, denied negligence, claiming that George McMahon, Stanton, Neb., driver of the car involved in the crash, was "negligent."

$3,221 Settlement

The physician said McMahon was insured by the Central National Insurance Co., Omaha, and that after a settlement for $3,221.33, Sikes released McMahon from liability in the case.

Through his attorney, Frederick Deutsch of Norfolk, Dr. Salter asked dismissal of the case and recovery of costs.

Sikes' suit alleges that through "neglect" in setting the fracture of Sikes' right leg and in treatment thereafter, the fracture did not heal.

He alleges that because of "neglect," his left leg had to be amputated 10 inches below the knee and that he is forced to wear a support.

Sikes said he had spent $3,500 for hispitals, doctors, travel and artificial limbs since the accident. He claimed he was earning over $300 monthly before the accident, but now he is unable to get over $200.

Lane, a retired janitor, was struck by a car driven by Morris Bimms, 24, Red Oak, Ia.

Bridge Levy Issue Goes On Richardson County Ballot

Many Roads Closed By Span Loss

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)— The Richardson County Board of Commissioners has adopted a resolution to put an emergency bridge levy of 1½ mills on the November ballot.

The levy would be over and above the constitutional limitation of five mills. A similar proposal was put to the voters in 1950, but it failed to carry at that time. Since then, however, the county's bridge problem has been growing steadily and the county has been closing more and more roads because of the loss of spans or their approaches.

Additional $60,000

The present bridge levy is at its present statutory top of 1.6 mills. On the county valuation of approximately 40 million dollars, the 1.6 mills makes $64,000 a year available for bridge repair and construction. The proposed emergency levy would provide an additional $60,000 a year for the bridge program.

County Clerk Emma Kieffer said the proposal will take a two-thirds majority to carry.

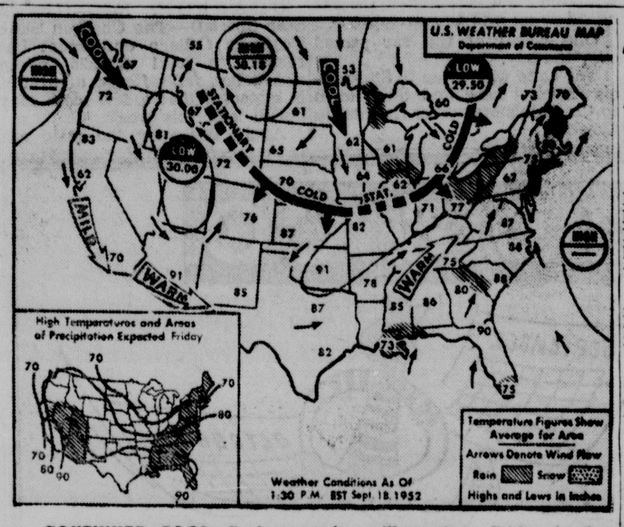

Richardson County has approximately 3,000 culverts and bridges to maintain. The county was hard hit in 1949 when a local flood on the Nemaha and its tributaries carried away or damaged most of the main bridges in the county, and it has never recovered from the blow.

Northern Seeks Expansion Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Northern Natural Gas Co. has asked the Federal Power Commission (FPC) for authority to build $69,826,000 worth of new facilities to increase the capacity of its natural gas pipelines system.

Northern's application said the facilities would add 300 million cubic feet daily to the capacity of its system. They would be built over the next two years.

Northern said the increased capacity would be used to supply requests of some present customers for more gas and to provide service to 30 communities which do not now have natural gas, part of them in Nebraska.

CONTINUED COOL—Cooler weather will continue Friday in the lakes region, the Ohio Valley and the central Plains. It will be warmer in the North Pacific states and the northern Rockies. Showers and thundershowers are forecast for the New England states, the middle Atlantic states, the southern tier of states from the Atlantic to the Mississippi Valley, the Colorado plateau area, and the great basin area. OMAHA (AP)—The Nebraska State CIO Political Action Committee has endorsed four Democrats and one Republican for national offices.

The Republican is former Gov. Dwight Griswold, who is running against William Ritchie, Omaha, for the two-year U. S. Senate term.

Democrats endorsed were Gov. Adlai Stevenson for president, Sen. John Sparkman for vice president; Stanley Long, Grand Island, for full-term U. S. Senator from Nebraska, and James Hart, Omaha, for U. S. Representative from the Second Nebraska district.

Long is opposed by the incumbent, Sen. Hugh Butler, and Hart is opposed by Roman Hruska, Omaha.

Kearney Home For Aged Will Open

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—St. Luke's Home, formerly St. Luke's Hospital is expected to be opened here by next Monday. It will house an average of 75 in its new role as a home for the aged.

The home will be owned and operated by the Evangelical Lutheran Good Samaritan Society. Walter Oehninger of Kansas City will be the superintendent and Mrs. Oehninger the head matron.

5,000 Persons Attend Unique Wedding Rites

COZAD, Neb. (AP)—When Dale Kenyon, 21 of Callaway and Shirley A. Buchanan, 19, of Broken Bow decided to get married they hardly expected to have 5,000 wedding guests.

But as Dale and Shirley recited wedding vows, an estimated 5,000 persons stood under the stars to witness the ceremony.

The wedding in the heart of downtown Cozad was a highlight of the annual Hay Days celebration here.

Rev. Bond Officiated

Despite the crowd, the wedding ceremony was both solemn and beautiful. The couple knelt at an altar before Rev. Nye O. Bond, pastor of the Cozad Methodist Church, who performed the ceremony.

The kneeling altar, set on the temporary stage, was flanked by baskets of flowers.

Shirley was attended by three bridesmaids and her sister, Charlotte, who was maid of honor. Kenyon's brother, Robert, was best man.

Kenyon is an Army private stationed at Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver.

The couple was picked from scores who sent applications to the Hay Days committee.

38-Year-Old Oldsmobile Still 'Merry'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Although a "self-starter" was optional equipment at $74 extra for an Oldsmobile in 1914, still the ancient model owned by Dr. C. H. Elsner of Crete, sports other equipment still popular on current models.

Included on Dr. Elsner's 1914 Oldsmobile, No. 54 off the assembly line (according to a stamped metal plate), are two glove compartments, a clock on the dashboard, a spotlight, 70-horsepower V-8 engine, and non-skid tires—the tire tread is a continuous lettering of "non" and "skid."

Automobiles became Dr. Elsner's hobby during his college days when he inherited the automobile from his grandfather as a "deathbed bequest" in 1935.

Dr. Elsner was an "only grandson," and often when he wasn't able to borrow the family car, grandfather would loan his.

The Crete optometrist owns a "Jaquar," a European sports roadster, but still drives the ancient Oldsmobile "for kicks and to keep the battery up."

The 1914 car has clocked 29,741 miles, of which Dr. Elsner has put on 10,000. "My grandfather drove the car from 1914 until 1935," the owner said. "Up until 1930 grandfather drove the Olds from Loup City to Wyoming every year to bring back a deer or antelope."

"IN MY MERRY OLDSMOBILE" — It's doubtful that Lucille, the heroine of a popular song, ever rode in this car, but this 1914 Oldsmobile is still driven frequently by its owner, Dr. C. H. Elsner of Crete. Dr. Elsner is seated at the controls. The two passengers are John Schwindt (rear seat) and Rudy Aksamit, co-owners of a Lincoln automobile shop, where the Olds was repainted this week. (Star Photo.)

Last Made

Dr. Elsner pointed out that the 1914 model was the last made with a V-8 engine by Oldsmobile. The company discontinued that type engine then because of their current belief that the "pistons would wear on one side."

No repairs have been made on the engine except for a new fan belt and rubber hose replacements. He's hoping there never will be a need for major repairs, which would be almost impossible because of lack of parts.

Dr. Elsner had the car refinished in its original colors this week at a Lincoln automobile paint shop.

He plans to "keep the car in the family." Dr. and Mrs. Elsner have two sons and a daughter. The old Olds is a favorite of his little girl.

The 1914 Oldsmobile as a collector's item is worth more today than the $2,600 that Dr. Elsner's grandfather paid for the "horseless carriage" at the beginning of World war I.

Iowa Youngster Is Seriously Injured

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Richard Comlyl, 14-months-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Hunter Comly, Iowa City, Ia., was injured seriously in an auto mishap here.

Officers said the family had just registered at a motel and Mrs. Comly got out of the car with the four children to go inside. Dr. Comly, thinking the children were with their mother, pulled the car ahead to go into the driveway.

One wheel of the car passed over the boy.

The child was taken to St. Francis Hospital here and then flown to Children's Memorial Hospital in Omaha.

Through the Co-operation of Labor and Management

This Book is Offered for Sale...

"A Rational Route to Peace and Prosperity in our Time"

Like the individual, a civilization may not apparently advance beyond a major, unresolved problem.

If our civilization is to survive, it must resolve the problem of achieving creative co-operation not based upon coercion, which is in the interest of society.

Since the beginnings of civilization such has been the goal of idealists, whether emphasizing individual or group action in their thinking.

Although couched in terms of "Capitalism" and "Socialism," the concept presented in this book is actually beyond either, according to many educators listed in Who's Who to whom basic material has been submitted.

The concept is based upon a "balance of dependency."

Book Sales to Benefit Employees

The privilege of selling and profiting from the sale of this book has been given to the local Teamsters Union of the American Federation of Labor representing Roberts Dairy Company employees at Omaha, Nebraska, in return for payment of expenses of printing and distributing such books as are sold.

Profits after expenses are deducted will be placed by the Union in a welfare fund for the benefit of Roberts employees to be disbursed at the discretion of the Omaha Local.

The material consists primarily of a compilation of columns run in The Omaha World-Herald, the Lincoln Journal and Star, and the Sioux City Journal throughout a four-year period. The column received a tremendous public response. Added introductory material includes:

"What Is a Rational Personality?"

"Rational Basis for Anger."

Compiled in book-form, the material is even much easier to understand than in the columns. The price of the book is only 75c for the benefit of twenty years' research.

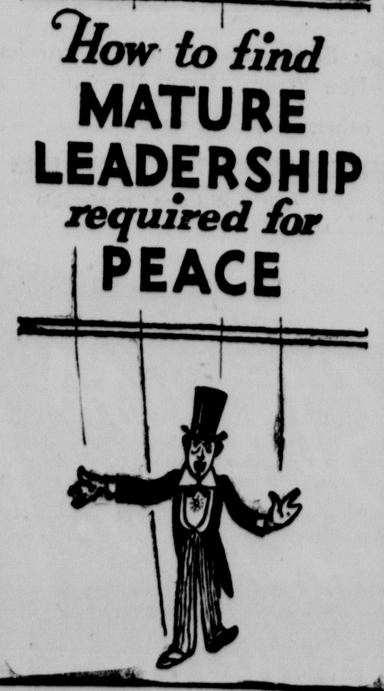

If the book is not available at your local newsstand, please order through General Drivers and Helpers Union, Local No. 554, 211 South 13th Street, or Roberts Dairy Company, 4469 Farnam Street, Omaha, Nebraska.

Decker Asks Nebraska Schools To Join Clothing Campaign

Nebraska schools are being asked to participate in the 11th annual national children's clothing crusade by State Supt. F. B. Decker, chairman of the Bundle Week campaign.

The clothing, Decker said, will be distributed to three southwestern Indian reservations, isolated rural areas of eight southern states, seven countries of western Europe and to Korea.

He urged every family in Nebraska to send a bundle of good, serviceable clothing to school during the week of Nov. 3 to 8. The campaign is under the auspices of a national committee of state school superintendents.

Distribution of the clothing will be under the auspices of Save the Children Federation, a child service organization. Goal of Nebraska is to obtain 200,000 pounds of clothing, Decker said.

Future Homemakers Association of Nebraska will provide leadership for the campaign in 81 school systems where they have local chapters.

Bids Are Taken On 382 Miles Of Graveling In 24 Counties

Bids on nearly 400 miles of graveling on Nebraska's highways are being asked by State Engineer Harold L. Aitken for a Department of Roads and Irrigation letting set for Oct. 2.

Contractors will be asked to bid on maintenance gravel resurfacing of 382 miles in 24 counties and on gravel surfacing of Highways No. 91 and 67, now under construction.

Gravel is to be placed on 13.9 miles of No. 91 between Lindsay and Humphrey, and on 1.6 miles of No. 67 south of Nemaha.

A total of 52,000 cubic yards of gravel will be added to the existing surfacing on highways in these 24 counties, according to Aitken:

Kearney: 15 miles between Minden and intersection with Nebraska 44.

Phelps: 9½ miles of U.S. 383 between Platte River and bituminous surfacing near Holdrege.

Pierce: 8 miles of Nebraska 98 between Pierce and intersection with U.S. 20; 9 miles south of Osmond; 17½ miles between Pierce and Plainview.

Sheridan: 13½ miles of Nebraska 27 between South Dakota line and bituminous surfacing near Gordon.

Earlier in the week, the Department of Roads and Irrigation awarded contracts for constructing a road south and east of Venice. Erlin P. Schweitzer of Osborne, Kan., was awarded a $53,111 contract for grading work and Booth and Olson, Inc., of Sioux City, was awarded a $37,457.89 contract for culvert work. The low bidders underbid two firms on grading work and four firms on culvert work.

Aitken announced that bids will be taken for bituminous surfacing of this project, extending south from U.S. 30A at Venice and east to the intersection of U.S. 6 and Nebraska 31, when the grading and culvert work nears completion. The project is being financed with Douglas County funds matched with Federal-Aid Secondary highway funds.

Home From A Honeymoon

MR. AND MRS. BURKETT Van KIRK

Cambridge Beaches, Somerset, Bermuda, (where they spent their honeymoon) seems a long way off to Mr. and Mrs. Burkett Van Kirk who arrived in Lincoln Thursday evening. Mrs. Burkett, as you will remember, is the former Ann Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morris of Clarksburg, W.Va. Her marriage to Mr. Van Kirk, son of Colonel and Mrs. Rolla C. Van Kirk of Washington, D.C., took place in Clarksburg on September 3.

JUST IN CASE anyone has the idea that the social path leading up to Saturday's game is studded with nothing but football activity, we have news for you—It isn't. There are numerous pre-and postgame affairs, of course, but as game week-ends go this promises to be one of the mildest of the season—It takes sprightly weather, it seems, to encourage the normal number of hosts and hostesses, and out of town guests.

* * *

LATE WEEK seems to be filled with a number of interesting reasons for activity—new neighbors—a bride-elect—guests, people going away, and such and things.

For instance, yesterday (Thursday morning) Mrs. Earl Luff was hostess at a coffee at her home when she welcomed a new neighbor, Mrs. Lynn Sharrar. Dr. and Mrs. Sharrar and their family recently moved into their new home at 1919 South Pershing Road, we hear, and what better way to become acquainted than over a coffee cup. Mrs. Luff invited twelve guests, all neighbors, to meet the newcomer in the community.

* * *

THE BRIDE-elect that we mentioned is Miss Ann Gilligan whose marriage to Carter Frederick Iddings will be solemnized on October 18. We already have told you about the party for Miss Gilligan this week-end, and now we open our little red book on next week's activity in her honor.

On Tuesday evening Miss Gilligan will be the honoree when Mrs. Nelson Bedell and Mrs. William Mapes are hostesses at the home of Mrs. Bedell. Twelve guests have been invited for a dessert supper, an informal evening and a kitchen shower for the bride-to-be.

* * *

AND ON Miss Gilligan's calendar for Sunday, September 28, is the dessert supper and miscellaneous shower for which Miss Mary Ann Zimmerman and Miss Joyce Johnson will be hostesses.

* * *

THE FAREWELL courtesy we mentioned is the party for which Miss Sally Westermark will be hostess this evening when she compliments Mrs. A. R. Jussel (Beth Randel) who leaves on Saturday for McCook where she will spend a few days with her parents before going on to Seattle where she will meet her husband, Lieut. Jussel. Lieut. Jussel, incidentally, will be arriving in the States about October 1, after a tour of duty with a naval patrol squadron in Korea. Miss Westermark has invited a group of Tri Delta sisters for an informal evening and late supper.

* * *

UNDERSTAND that Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Adams and their son, Russell James, left on Thursday to return to East Lansing, Mich., where Dr. Russell is assistant professor of Russian history at Michigan State college. Dr. and Mrs. Adams (Janet Steckelberg) and their son have been the guests of Mrs. Adam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steckelberg for the past two weeks.

* * *

SOMEONE TOLD us that Dick Salladin left on Thursday to return to Williams college, Williamstown, Mass.

* * *

THEN, WE learned that Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Levitt and their young son, Tommy, will be coming from Omaha on Saturday to spend the week-end as the guests of Mrs. Levitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gold.

* * *

SPEAKING OF guests—just this moment heard that Mrs. Stephen James of Yuma, Ariz., will be arriving this week-end to spend several days as the house guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart—And, of course, Mrs. James will be a guest at the pre-game buffet luncheon for which Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will be host and hostess on Saturday at their home.

* * *

MENTION OF game parties brings to mind the group that, after watching the game together, meets later for supper at one of the homes. On Saturday evening the more or less community supper will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Weyand, and will be attended by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Luff, Mr. and Mrs. George Mechling, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Powell.

* * *

AND SATURDAY night also is the night that the members of a dinner club will dine no host at the University club. Following dinner the group will remain at the club for an evening of cards.

Whittier Supper

Members of the Whittier PTA executive board and their families, and members of the school faculty and personnel and families, met for a covered dish supper Tuesday evening in the school cafeteria.

In charge of arrangements for the affair was Mrs. Lloyd Shubert, PTA president, who also was in charge of games for teenagers and adults. Games for small youngsters were directed by the Rev. Lloyd Shubert, assisted by Mrs. William Bowers and Mary Jo Wehr.

High score was won by John Ritchey, and following the program, a tour of the school building was made.

Louise Baker Is Bride Of Howard S. Wilson

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD STEBBINS WILSON

With only members of the family attending the service, the marriage of Louise Maxwell Baker, attractive and popular author, to Howard Stebbins Wilson was solemnized on Thursday afternoon, September 18, at the home of Mr. Wilson's cousin, Harold P. Stebbins, and Mrs. Stebbins. The 4:30 o'clock service, read by the Rev. Raymond A. McConnell, minister of First-Plymouth Congregational Church, took place before a wide picture window which was shaded with soft, pale gray sheer to form a background for the arrangements of peach-toned gladioli, and the lighted candles in seven-branched holders.

For the ceremony the bride chose a Jacques Fath original of heavy Italian silk in Gath green. The softly gathered skirt was of apertif length, and the long sleeved bodice buttoned snugly to a high, rounded line at the throat. Her small John Frederic hat reflected the tone of her gown, as did her slippers. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of white orchids.

As the bride's only attendant, Mrs. Harold Stebbins appeared in a frock of gold brocade, patterned with a thread of green that suggested the shade of the bride's gown. Mrs. Stebbins completed her costume with a hat of matching brocade, and her shoulder corsage was fashioned of green orchids.

Mr. Stebbins served Mr Wilson as best man.

An informal reception for a group of intimate friends followed the ceremony and later there was a wedding supper, just for the family, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to the Broadmoor, Colorado Springs after which they will return to Lincoln for a brief stay before leaving for New York City from where they will sail for South America.

For traveling Mrs. Wilson wore a pearl gray Adrian suit, with matching accessories, and a small gray hat trimmed with minute touches of coral and small pearls.

Women Voters Entertain At Tea

Members of the York, Beatrice, Fremont and Omaha Leagues of Women Voters were special guests Thursday afternoon when the executive board of the state league, and officers of the Lincoln league, entertained at tea at the governor's mansion in Lincoln.

Following a talk by Harold Gillette, Lancaster County election commissioner, on the Nebraska state primary laws, Mrs. Val Peterson presided at the tea table. In the picture with Mrs. Peterson are, from the left: Mrs. Walter Stephenson of Omaha, second vice president of the state organization; Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller of Lincoln, president of the Nebraska League of Women Voters; and Mrs. Carl E. Rosenquist, president of the Lincoln league.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

It's a great country we live in—a great state, and a wonderful, beautiful city. And still there is unhappiness and irritation. Irritation with the greatest nation in the world—irritation with one of the most magnificent of states, and irritation with our city. The worry about the state of the Union, of course, comes under the heading of "things political," and about that we can do nothing. But to those who dislike Nebraska, loathe Lincoln for no other reason than that there is nothing to do I only can say that you haven't gone too much out of your way to find something to do that's entertaining. Have you gone on a tour of the state capitol, for example? It's considered one of the finest works of architecture in the world. Have you been to the museum at Morrill hall? Have you visited the art galleries, also at Morrill hall? There are numerous interesting events on the University of Nebraska campus the entire year-around, and they cost not a penny—The Lincoln Symphony orchestra presents a series of concerts and guest artists during the winter, and there is the Circlet theater, amateur talent, to be sure, but entertaining; the University Players also present a series of dramatic productions each season; there are things to do if you look for them. And there are beautiful places to go in the state, too—the Halsey forest, the sandhills—and too many other picturesque regions to mention—Get out and about while the weather still is delightful, and see what you can see.

All that was brought on by this note:

Dear Minerva: I am not one of the old-timers you mentioned, but I am sure I am going to enjoy Minerva's Mail very much. I haven't lived in Lincoln very long, and while I think it is a nice, clean town, I think it is an utterly boring place. Nothing to do night after night, and day after day, unless you traipse through the shops, go to movies, and watch TV—all of which gets a little tiresome as an every day diet. Why don't a town the size of Lincoln have interesting places to go and things to see? Maybe I just don't know my way around town, so please tell me if I'm missing anything. One of my neighbors tells me that the whole state is the same way—that you have to go five hundred miles in every direction to find something interesting. I'll be waiting for your answer.

J. J.

A Note To Dieters

Along with our fifth diet in our ten-day series, we are passing on to you another one of "the important little things" which Dr. Ruth M. Leverton has outlined in her 2,000 calories-a-day diet series. The "important little thing" this morning is that for salads, dressings are lemon juice or vinegar and seasonings. Any kind of an oil dressing has high calory content and will up your calory intake for the day.

Today's diet is as follows:

BREAKFAST
Grapefruit, ½ small
Egg, boiled or poached, 1 medium
Enriched bread, 1 slice
Butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon
Skim milk, 1 cup

LUNCH
Tomato soup, ½cup
Liver sausage sandwich: 1
Enriched bread, 2 slices
Butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon
Liver sausage, 1 ounce
Lettuce, 1 leaf
Celery, 2 4-inch pieces
Radishes, 2 4-inch pieces
Banana, 1 small
Skim milk, 1 cup

DINNER
Ham, 1 med. serving
Baked sweet potato, ½ small
Head lettuce salad, 1/5 head
Green beans, ½ cup
Enriched bread, 1 slice
Butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon
Fresh fruit compote:
Apple, ⅓ cup
Orange, ⅓ cup
Berries (in season), ¼ cup
Skim milk, 1 cup

So Easy To Do

Here are three suggestions guaranteed to add glamor to any luncheon or Sunday brunch—They're easy to do, too, because they can be done so quickly—They are packaged partly-baked rolls, usually known as the "brown-and-serve" variety—These may be kept on hand in the refrigerator but when you serve them be sure they're right out of the oven—

LEMON ROLLS

Ingredients: 1/3 cup sugar, 1½ teaspoons lemon rind, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 1 dozen brown-and-serve dinner rolls.

Method: Mix sugar, lemon rind, lemon juice and butter. Spread over bottom of a shallow quart pan. Press rolls, with tops down, over lemon mixture. Bake in moderate (400F.) oven 15 minutes. Let rolls stand in pan 1 minute after removing from oven. Invert pan to remove rolls so that lemon mixture is up. Serve at once.

WALNUT HONEY ROLLS

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons honey, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine (melted), ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts, 6 brown-and-serve dinner rolls.

Method: Into each greased muffin cup, put 1 teaspoon honey, ½ teaspoon butter, a dash of nutmeg and 1 teaspoon walnuts. Place rolls, with tops down in muffin cups. Bake in moderate (400F.) oven 15 minutes. Let rolls stand in pan 1 minute after removing from oven. Invert pan to remove rolls so that walnut mixture is up. Serve at once.

PINEAPPLE GINGER ROLLS

Ingredients: ¼ cup drained crushed pineapple, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine (melted), 1 tablespoon chopped candied ginger, 6 brown-and-serve rolls.

Method: Mix pineapple, brown sugar, butter and ginger. Spread over bottom of 1 quart loaf pan. Place rolls with tops down, over fruit mixture. Bake in moderate (400F.) oven for 15 minutes. Let rolls stand in pan 1 minute after removing from oven. Invert pan to remove rolls so that fruit mixture is up.

A Symphony Of Motion

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Is your walk characterized by a smooth gait, an effortless pace and a flowing rhythm? Ah, then what admiring glances you gather in any day's activity! Those are the qualities that put a patina on a woman's walk, setting her apart as one of the world's beauties.

Without those three graces, you're bound to cover ground in a jerky, ambling, galloping, stiff or sprawling manner. When you do, you nullify all of the other attributes of a lovely walk. Though you carry your shoulders relaxed, abdomen and hips retracted, knees flexed, and walk with toes pointing ahead, you'll be totalling lacking in the fluid beauty that is such a powerful magnet to the eye.

Perfection Assured

A smooth gait is the result of adjusting the length of the step you take to the length of your foot. You must precisely measure off each step, never favoring either foot as persons who are either strongly right handed or left handed are prone to do.

However leisured or hurried you feel, stick to your established goal. Never mince coquettishly, scramble hoydenishly or stride mannishly. When in haste, simply accelerate the tempo of your steps instead of lengthening them.

Without rhythm your walk will be about as attractive to the eye as uninspired music is to the ear. Your rhythm depends on how your feet touch the ground. Perfect rhythm can only be attained by consistently monitoring both feet so they touch the ground with the same amount of force and at the same rate of speed. When one step sounds louder or faster than the other you are off beat. For the sake of your grace, cultivate a better sense of timing.

Crowning Touch

There is one magnificent routine that banishes all errors of gait, pace and rhythm. It can polish the best or worst walk, and this is it: Measure off a hard-surfaced floor with strings placed at about 16-inch intervals—either more or less depending on the length of your foot. For 10 minutes each day, walk this course, toeing a string mark with each step. First hum a waltz and then a fox trot. Control your footfalls so that each ticks off the beat with the wherever you go—and it will be accompanied by the music of compliments whispered in your same degree of pianissimo.

Annual Dean's Tea Is Friday

Mrs. R. G. Gustavson, Miss Helen Snyder, Miss Mary Augustine and Miss Johnston will be in the receiving line. Guests will be greeted by Miss Sylvia Krasme, president of Mortar Board and Miss Jean Loudon, Associated Women Students president.

Boston Claims Another First

Boston expects to be the first major U. S. city to have more women than men voting in the November election. According to the registrars of voters, there are 20,000 more women than men eligible to cast ballots.

Boston also claims to have had the first women's club, the first post office, public school, and fire engine manufacture in America.

The Ayem Post

Had to skip the mailman yesterday, but we're back again today with both yesterday's and this morning's mail—So, just to keep the record straight we think we should begin where we left off on another day—and here we are:

Congratulations on your new feature—now you can help me out. Four or five years ago same one gave me a recipe for a chocolate cake—the best I ever made or tasted. I lost the recipe and since I can't remember where I got it in the first place I don't know where to go to get it again. All I remember about the recipe is that you used hot water—but it's been so long since I made it that I can't remember what you did with the hot water. If someone would send you the recipe and you could print it, I could cut it out and save it. Mrs. H. T.

I think the recipe Mrs. H. T. wants is for a brownstone front chocolate cake, but I'm not sure. Does anyone have the recipe she wants?

Included in this morning's mail is a letter from "Tillie" who also wants us to pass on a message to Minerva. She says, "I surely am glad you're back, Minerva, because I really like your answers to the letters. I always read them over two or three times and always find something that helps me with a problem."

And now for Tillie's request to the Ayem Post—

Dear Woman's Exchange:

I need a little help. I intend to knit two sweaters for a lady and I wonder if someone who knits would tell me what kind of yarn would be nice to knit them with. I may have to send for it as I won't be able to buy it here, but as I send to Lincoln for a lot of things, that will be all right. Thank you for your trouble. Tillie.

No trouble at all, Tillie, we're happy to be of assistance. We discussed your question with our knitting expert who wonders if you will let us know whether you are knitting pullovers or cardigans. It seems that the style of the sweater, whether it is to be loosely or closely knit, will determine what kind of yarn you should use. Can you let us know right away? We'll have your answer for you then.

53rd Soviet Veto Bars Japan From U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) — Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik barred Japan from U.N. membership Thursday by casting Russia's 53rd veto in the Security Council in the face of ten approving votes.

Sharp exchanges between Malik and U.S. Ambassador Warren Austin preceeded the vote, which shelved Japan's application until the U.N. Assembly again raises the issue of new memberships during the sessions beginning next month.

Austin refuted point by point Malik's charges that Japan is "an American colony destined to provide cannon fodder, an arsenal and a military base for the United States."

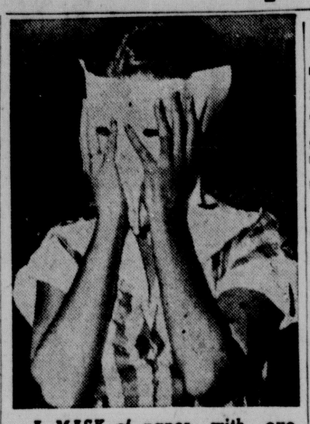

The American diplomat called attention to the fact that 48 states of the free world signed the Japanese peace treaty in San Francisco and that 10 members of the Security Council have expressed the conviction that Japan is fully entitled and able to assume the obligations of U.N. membership.

Austin denied that Japanese "police reserves" are being used in Korea or that the U. S. is fostering the rebirth of militarism in Japan. Malik retorted that Japanese newspapers said that two Japanese Air Force pilots, who participated in the sinking of the British warships Prince of Wales and Repulse are now being trained by the American Air Force.

The Soviet veto came slightly more than one year after Japan and the Western powers signed a peace treaty over Soviet opposition.

Of Malik's charge that the U. S. is fostering the rebirth of militarism in Japan, Austin said:

"Japan today has only a national police reserve of some 75,000 men to maintain internal order and security. This force is in the process of being expanded to 110,000 men. No nation can suspect Japan of aggressive designs because of this small internal security force."

College View, Bluebirds On Road Tonight

Lincoln Hosts Iowans In Home Opener

By WAYNE PANTER
Star Sports Staff Member

A pair of unknown quantities in the field of high school football will collide in the Lincoln High Oval tonight in a game that holds promise of being one of the Capital City's gridiron highlights of the 1952 season.

Lincoln, and its opponent, West Waterloo, Ia., have each played one game. Both tilts were under similar conditions—carried off in driving rainstorms.

West fell before Burlington, Ia., 13-6, in a game which was described by Waterloo observers as "a poor test" of either club's potential.

The same might be said of Lincoln's 6-0 victory on the same night over Omaha Central. Both teams were handicapped to the utmost degree by the heavy rainfall.

West sported a seven-won, two-lost record last year. This year's team, according to reports, is lighter and apparently not as fast as the 1951 club, which shared the championship of Iowa's tough Big Six conference, composed of East and West Waterloo teams, those from North and East Des Moines, and Mason City and Fort Dodge.

West Coach George Dutcher is said to be planning a number of major lineup shifts in an effort to correct weaknesses in his team's single-wing and short punt offense.

Principal changes are slated to take place in the line with an eye to providing better blocking at the guard slots. Given blocking, Backs Gary Hayes, Dell Bernstein, Bob Avery and Bill Elliott are all capable of reeling off good yardage. Gary Bixby is another back who showed promise in the initial outing.

Hayes, Bernstein, Elliott and Larry Woodard are the only lettermen in the backfield. In the line, Tackle Weston Thomas, Guard Vernon Buchan, Guard Rich Roberts and Center Bob Brandhorst comprise the monogram winners.

Links Coach Bill Pfeiff sent his charges through long scrimmage sessions Monday and Tuesday, held a review of plays Wednesday and tapered off Thursday night on the usual light workout with the players in game togs.

Pfeiff earlier had expressed satisfaction with the boys' play against Central, and at the end of this week's practice sessions declared that the team looked "good" and that much had been accomplished.

Pfeiff brought two lads up off the reserves this week. They are End Norman Ford and Guard Dick Deems. Don Sladek, who missed last week's opener, is scheduled to start tonight at a blocking back in a mild shuffling of starting berths.

Still on the questionable list is Jack Scanlon, senior guard who was shaken up in practice last week and may be compelled to abandon the grid sport after a recurrence of an old injury.

The probable Lincoln starting lineup and West's starting lineup of last week:

LINCOLN	Pos.	WEST
LeRoy Butherus	LE	Paul Sisson
Dick Dinges	LT	Weston Thomas
Bill Greiner	LG	Vernon Buchan
Jerry Gilbert	C	Bob Brandhorst
Larry Kimmel	RG	Rich Roberts
Dean Stoneman	RT	R. J. Stemmerman
Bob Barnett	RE	Jim Young
Don Sladek	B	Larry Woodard
Don Erway	B	Dell Bernstein
Ted King	B	Bob Avery
Dick McWilliams	B	Gary Hayes

Game time at the Oval is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Huskers Ready For Grid Opener With So. Dakota

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

ALL was in readiness Thursday in the Nebraska football camp for the Saturday opener with South Dakota.

"We are as ready as we are going to get," said Coach J. William Glassford of the Huskers.

In a final dress rehearsal before the light pre-game warmup Friday, the Huskers concentrated Thursday on a drill on defense. Shoulder pads were used, but no heavy contact was in progress.

Early point figures show the Huskers bearing a four-touchdown margin of favoritism.

Glassford scoffs at this, saying his wards will be "lucky to win by a single point."

A total of 53 men will suit up. Out with injuries will be Ends Jerry Yeager and George Paynich and Guards Leonard Singer and George Prochaska. Center Dick Watson will miss the first game because of a scholastic hurdle.

Despite Glassford's earlier vow to shelve the platoon system, only three players will go both ways Saturday. They are End Dennis Emanuel, Center Bob Oberlin and Quarterback John Bordogna.

The offensive lineup Saturday:

Emanuel and Ted Connor, ends; Harvey Goth and Jim Oliver, tackles; Kay Curtis and Jerry Paulson, guards; Oberlin, Bordogna, Bob Reynolds and Bob Smith, halfbacks; and George Cifra, fullback.

Defensively, Nebraska will go with Emanuel and Bill Schabacker at the wing posts, Ed Husmann and Jerry Minnick at tackles; Carl Brasee and John Machisic, guards; Oberlin and Verl Scott, linebackers; Bordogna at safety; and Dan Brown and Jim Yeisley, halfbacks.

Business Manager A. D. Lewandowski announced that reserved seats are still available for the South Dakota game. In addition, there are 5,000 available bleacher seats.

Lewandowski reported that he expects a crowd of about 28,000 for the Coyote opener and with good weather the crowd, including knot-holers, may hit 30,000.

The starting offensive line will average 196 pounds with the starting defensive group averaging 197. The offensive backfield will average 186 and the defensive secondary 187. As a whole, the offensive lineup will average 192 and the defensive group 193.

On the offensive eleven, only Curtis and Reynolds are seniors. Emanuel, Connor, Goth, Oliver and Paulson are juniors and the others sophomores.

All are lettermen with the exception of Connor and Oberlin.

The defensive lineup includes four seniors, Husmann, Brasee, Machisic and Scott. Schabacker and Minnick are juniors and Brown and Yeisley sophomores.

Non-lettermen include Machisic and Brown.

Selection of the starters was based on films of last Saturday's full dress rehearsal. Players are graded on the basis of the techniques they use in carrying out assignments, on execution of such assignments and on added effort.

Nebraska has played the Coyotes 12 times previously, winning nine and losing one. Two games ended in ties.

Last time the clubs met was in 1949 when the Cornhuskers gained a 33-6 victory. Lone South Dakota triumph was by a 6-5 score in 1899.

Nebraska's "B" team football schedule has been reduced from four to three games as a result of the closing of Nebraska Central College at Central City. The "B" squad was scheduled to play Nebraska Central the night of Oct. 30.

Saturday will be Dad's Day on the Cornhusker campus.

Fathers of Nebraska students will be honored at an 11:30 luncheon sponsored by the Innocents, men's honorary society. Dads of the football players will sit at the head table and will be introduced by Track Coach Ed Weir. Mothers also are welcome at the luncheon.

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson and Col. C. J. Frankforter will speak.

At the South Dakota-Nebraska football game in the afternoon, the footballers' dads will sit on the sidelines, wearing numerals corresponding to those of their sons.

There will be 3,242 high school bandsmen participating in the annual University of Nebraska Band Day October 11, in conjunction with the Kansas State-Nebraska football game. In addition there will be 301 baton twirlers.

The Cornhusker band also will participate.

A parade through the business district will be held in the morning. The bands mass at halftime for a tremendous spectacle.

Don Lentz director of Band Day, listed these 59 high schools as the units chosen this year:

Albion, Arapahoe, Arcadia, Ashland, Aurora, Auburn, Beaver City, Bertrand, Big Springs, Blue Hill, Broken Bow, Central City.

Ceresco, Chadron, Chapman, Cook, Crete, Culbertson, DeWitt, Dodge, Fairfield.

Fairmont, Franklin, Genoa, Gothenburg, Grand Island, Harrison, Holbrook, Humboldt, Johnson, Kearney, Kimball, Lexington, Lincoln High, Lincoln Northeast Loup City, Madison, Minden, Nebraska City, Nemaha, Ord, Orleans, Pawnee City, Pierce, Polk, Ravenna.

Rushville Scotia, Scottsbluff, Sidney, Stanton, St. Mary's (O'Neill), Stromsburg, Sutton, Walthill, Wausa, West Point, Wisner, Wymore.

Coyote Starter Out For Season

VERMILLION, S. D. (AP)—Mark Eixenberger, regular fullback for the University of South Dakota, will be lost for the rest of the season with a dislocated vertebra, it was learned Thursday.

X-Rays taken Thursday at Sioux City revealed the injury, according to Coach Harry Gamage.

Eixenberger will be replaced by either George Puetz, a sophomore from Ethan, S. D., or Arlan Haakinson, freshman from Sioux City.

CV At Plattsmouth; 'Birds At St. Mary's

Two local prep elevens which suffered setbacks last week in their season openers had good prospects of returning to the win columns as they prepared for meetings with a pair of out-of-town foes tonight.

Cathedral, loser to Syracuse by a 6-0 count, and College View, which fell before Blair, 27-6, are slated to face St. Mary's of Grand Island and Plattsmouth, respectively, on alien ground. Halfback Denny Costin will captain the Bluebirds.

St. Mary's, according to Coach Vince Aldrich, lost a number of regulars from its 1951 team. The 1952 roster is studded with juniors and sophomores, with seniors in the minority.

Aldrich, however, is not counting his proverbial touchdowns before they materialize. All week his Bluebirds have drilled on offense with an eye to correctin the shortcomings of last Friday at Syracuse.

Aldrich reported that his boys—state six-man grid champions last season—found the 11-man "different," but felt that they were rapidly becoming acclimated to the change.

"They look a lot better this week," he said. Two boys have been moved up the Cathedral ladder since the last game. George Riggs, sophomore end, and Fred Schneider, junior halfback, received promotions and may see action tonight.

Rich Snyder, end, sustained a bruised or cracked rib in last week's game and is on the limited duty list. He has been replaced in the starting lineup by Tom Hickman. The probable starters:

Ends—Tom Brady and Tom Hickman.
Tackles—Jerome Bartek and Tom Studnicka.
Guards—Bill Krueger and Dick Mobley.
Center—John Fagan.
Quarterback—Joe Clark.
Halfbacks—Denny Costin and Stan Peters.
Fullbacks—Dave Kubitschek.

Plattsmouth's Blue Devils were victims last week of Auburn, 19-0, and are being regarded this week by Coach Tom Gillaspie and his College View Club as fair game.

Fumbles hampered the CV cause greatly last week as the Viewmen were able to move but could not sustain an offense. During this week's practice sessions Gillaspie devoted a lion's share of the time to correcting the drop-the-ball tendency.

Scrimmages continued on the Hilltop right up to the night before the game, with Gillaspie and his players determined to be in readiness for the Blue Devils and to get another win streak under way.

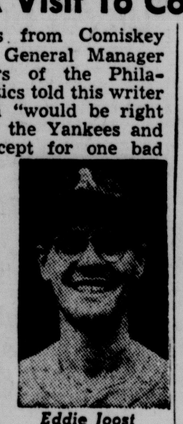

With two possible exceptions, Gillaspie will stick with the same starters that opened against Blair. The tow-headed mentor said that either Gene Reed or Darrell Bryceson might start at right guard while Bob Flatten may open at left half instead of Jim Carlson. The probable starters:

Ends—Louie Meinecke and Bill Thierstein.
Tackles—Alan Schroeder and Mike Martin.
Guards—Glen Hoy and either Gene Reed or Darrell Bryceson.
Center—Jim Edwards.
Quarterback—Paul Westbrook.
Halfbacks—Either Jim Carlson or Bob Flatten and Paul Porter.
Fullback—Woody Oaks.

A Visit To Comiskey Park

CUFF notes from Comiskey Park. . . General Manager Arthur Ehlers of the Philadelphia Athletics told this writer that his team "would be right in there with the Yankees and Cleveland except for one bad week." . . . Chicago writers agreed on one point: That's the A's are now playing as good a ball as any team in the American League . . . They may average 34 years and are considered senior citizens, but those A's are hustlers from spikes to toupees. . . Take Eddie Joost, the 36-year-old shortstop and one of the best in baseball. . . "He knows how to take care of himself," explained Ehlers. . . We studied Joost while dining with him, Manager Jimmy Dykes, Catcher Joe Astroth and the Lincoln delegation, headed by Banker Byron Dunn. . . A dark-haired handsome virile type, he could easily pass for 26 or 27. . . On the field, he makes plays we've only seen equalled by two shortstops, Phil Rizzuto of the Yanks and Marty Marion of the Browns. . . He plays a bad hop with all the ease you'd sink a six-inch putt.

Eddie Joost

Eddie, a native of Burlingame, Cal., one of our favorite old haunts, showed us pictures of his four strapping sons, the oldest one being 11 years. . . He says they all "run and throw pretty well, but don't tell them that or they will retire on their laurels." He is proud, and justifiably so, of the $5,700 custom-built Cadillac Philadelphia fans recently bestowed on him. . . Eddie told The Firing Line that he hopes Bobby Shantz will get used to people bothering him and, in general, according him all of the attention given a baseball celebrity. . . "It's all part of the game," said Eddie, "and it's something that Bobby will have to lick."

Harry Byrd, the A's 210-pound rookie pitcher, impressed us deeply in hurling that 2-1 victory over the Chisox for his 15th win of the season. . . Byrd, who uses a mixture of sidearm and overarm, each with a world of force, nearly was assigned to Lincoln for the 1951 Western League season. . . When the parceling of players was completed, Harry was given to the Savannah, Ga., chattel of the Sally League where he won 19 games. . . "He's going to be a great pitcher," Ehlers told The Firing Line. "He's got everything, including a lot of guts." . . . We noticed that during the game when three times he pitched himself out of deep holes with Chisox all over the base paths. . . He's only 26 and should have his best years ahead.

NELLIE Fox, the Sherman Field alum who now is sparkplug of the White Sox and by far the team's most popular player, has a knack for wearing pitchers down by hitting an excessive amount of foul balls . . . He tipped off exactly 17 fouls in the game we saw. . .Nellie, like most baseball heads we talked to, thinks that Shantz will be his old winning self as soon as he gets used to the acclaim. . . "Bobby is too smart to let them get his goat," was Nellie's prediction.

A 1952 station wagon carries in relief pitchers from their centerfield warming-up point in Comiskey Park. . . Wouldn't Ol' Pete Alexander or Christy Mathewson turn over in their graves at that? . . . Fact that Philadelphia will sponsor the A's in 1953 is indicated by the promise of Manager Jimmy Dykes and General Manager Art Ehlers to attend the "Bobby Shantz Day," in late November. . . Dykes and Ehlers will stop in Lincoln while enroute to the winter baseball meetings in Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 1.

St. Cecilia Hits Harvard, 30-12

HASTINGS, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—St. Cecelia of Hastings opened the defense of its Southern Nebraska Big Eight Conference football crown Thursday night with a 30-12 walloping of Harvard here.

St. Cecilia drew first blood on a 60-yard run by Phil Parr. Jerry Gerhart sprintend 17-yards for the second counter and a 72-yard gallop by Ronny Gilmore accounted for the third TD and made the score 18-0.

Dick Keller then took charge of the Harvard offense and pulled the visitors with one touchdown—12-18 — when he bucked over from four yards out and followed a few minutes later with a 62-yard punt return.

But St. Cecilia wasn't to be denied as Gerhart scampered 47-yards for his second tally and Frank Gauthier put the game out of reach when he bulled over from inches out to conclude the scoring.

Grid Giants Clip LA Rams, 30-17

NEW YORK (INS)—The New York Giants capitalized on the "breaks" Thursday night to defeat the National Football League Champion Los Angeles Rams, 30 to 17 in a charity exhibition game at the Polo Grounds.

A crowd of 28,670 witnessed New York's first football game of the season, played for the benefit of the New York Journal-American milk fund.

Score by periods:

Los Angeles Rams	0	3	14	0	—17
New York Giants	14	7	3	6	—30

Sedgman Nips Larsen

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Frank Sedgman, captain of the Australian Davis Cup team, came from behind Thursday to nip Art Larsen of San Francisco, 8-10, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5, to gain the semifinals of the 26th annual Pacific Southwest tennis championships.

Ken Forbes Stars As Northeast Ends 39-Game Holy Name Win Skein, 47-7

By WAYNE PANTER
Star Sports Staff Member

OMAHA— One of the longest win streaks in recent state prep football history came to an end here Thursday night as a rugged Northeast crew bludgeoned Omaha Holy Name 47-7.

The handwriting was early on the wall, scribed there by husky Ken Forbes, hard-running Rocket halfback. With little more than five minutes gone in the first frame, Forbes swept wide around right end from the 12 to cap an uninterrupted drive of 60 yards after the Rockets had taken the opening kickoff.

It was the first of four TDs for Forbes, who added the point after touchdown on a placement en route to a 25-point total for the evening.

The Ramblers weren't ready to roll over and play dead, however. With the ball on the Blue and Gold 28 after the kickoff, Jim Blair blasted his way through the middle of the Rocket ranks to romp 72 yards to what would have been pay dirt had not the effort been called back by an offside penalty.

The Ramblers came back to knot the count at seven apiece late in the period, however after taking over the ball near midfield when they recovered Junior Thomas's fumble.

Their ground attack stalled, the Ramblers took to the air on the wings of a 20-yard pass from Blair to Bob Daley, who outran Rocket pursuers the remaining distance to the goal. Daley's placement was good.

Northeast set a 63-yard drive in motion following the kickoff. With Forbes contributing the heavy yardage and Junior Thomas taking up the slack, they moved in a half-dozen plays to another TD with fleet Ron Steele frisking around left end from the 18. Thomas plunged for the point to make it 14-7 with a minute gone in the second heat.

Four lost fumbles—two by each team—keynoted play in the remainder of the period as the Ramblers drove deep into Rocket territory to lose, regain, and lose possession. The half ended with Forbes passing from midfield to Dave Tullis on the 30. Tullis was hauled down on the three as the timer's horn sounded.

During the third and fourth quarters the Rockets literally swept the Ramblers off their feet, swinging wide around the ends in a series of ground-eating plays.

Forbes tallied on a six-yard sweep around his own right end after a fumble recovery by Jim Pavey on the 25, a four-yard gain by Forbes and a 15-yard roughness penalty against the Ramblers had moved the pigskin to the doorstep. Thomas's plunge for the point was stilled at scrimmage.

Don Vols et up the next TD by covering a Rambler fumble on the Holy Name 37. Forbes scored 10 plays later after he, Jim Haberlan, Ron Steele and Thomas had alternated at sweeping the flanks. Thomas's plunge for the extra dividend brought the count to 27-7.

Forbes got number four moments later on a 67-yard jaunt which saw him thread his way through the center of the Rambler defense, escaping the grasp of five would-be tacklers enroute. Haberlan ended the scoring for the period with a neat placement.

Haberlan made it 40-7 with four minutes gone in the windup as he swept from the 10 around his own right end. Haberlan had done the heavy chores on a 46-yard Rocket drive to earn the privilege.

Scatback Bill Fry intercepted a Rambler pass near midfield within the next minute, and on the first play from scrimmage the 148-pounder scampered off to starboard, reversed his field and went 48 yards for the game's final marker. Rich Taylor bulled across for the P.A.T. to make it Rockets 47, Ramblers 7.

With time running out, Holy Name sent Daley all the way to the Rocket four after taking an aerial from Jim (Red) McAndrews, but the offensive withered in the face of a pair of offside penalties and four incomplete passes.

Alert line play by Pavey and Vols, especially, figured heavily in the Rocket triumph, while Fry's work at safety complemented the efforts of Coach Bun Galloway's steady ballcarriers.

Northeast	7	7	20	13	—47
Holy Name	7	0	0	0	—7

Northeast scoring: Touchdowns—Forbes 4, Steele, Haberlan, Fry, PAT—Forbes (placement). Haberlan (placement), Thomas 2 (plunges), Taylor (plunge).

Holy Name scoring: Touchdown—Daley. PAT—Daley (placement).

A PAIR of Friday night tilts featuring Nebraska College Conference teams will highlight the opening night action of a busy weekend for Nebraska college teams.

No less than 15 teams from various parts of the Cornhusker State will see action either Friday or Saturday.

Headlining tonight's card will be the Doane-Indianola game and the Chadron-South Dakota Mines tussle. Doane, with its new coach Aub Givens, is a question mark in the NCC and the game with the Iowa club may give a wee bit of insight on the potentialities of the Tigers.

Chadron will be seeking its first victory of the campaign after losing its opener last week to Mankato, 27-6.

Head Coach Ross Armstrong reports the Eagles survived the Minnesota junket in fine shape and should be at full strength for the South Dakotans at Rapid City.

Also on the Friday night slate are two other games involving NCC teams—Peru and Midland—and two Central Church Conference tilts. Scottsbluff, a member of the 4-JC loop, hosts Ft. Lewis A & M.

Peru travels to Pella, Ia., and Midland invades Concordia. On the CCC docket, Tarkio, Mo., journies to Dana and York will welcome Friends College.

The weekend's top game—a slam-bang affair that always rates the No. 1 spot when the two schools tangle in any sport—will take place Saturday in Omaha.

Roy Robertson's Nebraska Wesleyan Plainsmen, fresh from a 27-19 upset of Buena Vista, will roar into the Gate City with the scalps of those pesky Omaha U. Injuns as their goal.

The Plainsman coach will take 39 men to the contest and 18 of the group are freshmen. One of the frosh on the list is a newcomer that has landed a part in Wesleyan's defensive scheme.

Mel Knopp, ex-Lincoln High ace recently returned from the service, has attracted the attention of the NWU coaches with his defensive ability. And while Knopp isn't scheduled to work on offense for awhile, Robertson reported Thursday:

"His tackling has been so sharp and vicious that I couldn't leave him out of our defensive plans."

The Wesleyan traveling squad:

Ends: Roger Barry, Gordon Marts, Dick Nagele, Don Schlichtemeier, Jim Shaw, Merlin Wiltfang.

Tackles: Bruce Barger, Wendell Carriker, Mack Hunt, Bob Thurston, Ervin Unvert, Durward VanCleave.

Guards: Bob Becker, Bob Burham, Don Keller, Charles Linke, Douglas Lund, Ronnie Nelson, Blaine Rieke, Bob Witham.

Centers: Charles Bagby, Walter Garner, Curtis Georgeson, Boyd Thompson.

Backs: Bill Bowmaster, Bill Buck, Marvin Macy, Wes Hultquist, Bill Story, Rod Washinton, Mel Knopp, Cliff Kahl, Dick Lewis, Glenn Reed, Bob Wichert, Ronnie Keefer, Bob Lawson, Bill Minchow, Sanford Nelson.

Other Saturday games that will provide a great deal of entertainment for Nebraskans are Morningside at Wayne and Gracesland at Kearney in NCC circles, with Fairbury at Topeka, Kas., and Trinidad, Colo., at McCook in junior college action.

As we get deeper into the ballyhoo of political campaigns, we find both major parties promising peace and prosperity if they are in power, and doom in varying degrees if the opposition wins. This is standard procedure . . . but not necessarily as accurate as radar. In politics everything is black or white. There is no middle ground.

However, any candidate will tell you there are two ways of looking at things . . . his way and the wrong way. The best thing you can say about your opponent is that he is "misguided" . . . and the worst you can say is unprintable. Of course, none of us has to believe everything.

Three frosh previously on the squad checked in their gear. Bill Debus, all-state fullback from Lincoln High, quit because he "didn't like school."

KANSAS MEANIE — Wild Red Berry of Pittsburgh, Kan., will be making his first appearance in the Lincoln ring Tuesday night.

Red Berry Making Wrestle Debut Here

Wild Red Berry, the wrestling demon from Pittsburg, Kan., will highlight this week's mat card at the fairgrounds arena Tuesday night.

Seeking a future as a heavyweight boxer, Red jumped from the fisticuff game to grappling in 1937 and since that time has appeared in 47 straight main events in Kansas City. Because of Red's ferocity in the ring, Promoter Krieger said that he has had a difficult time lining up an opponent.

Emil Dusek, one of the Omaha meanies, has finally consented to meet Red in the two out of three falls feature bout Krieger disclosed.

Krieger said that he is seeking a star studded card that will be announced later in the week.

Jayhawks Taper Off For TCU Test

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—University of Kansas footballers—both offensive and defensive—ran through a light signal drill Thursday in preparation for their season opener against Texas Christian Saturday.

A similar schedule was on tap for Friday.

Coach Jules Sikes will take his squad to Topeka after Friday's practice to get away from the usual pre-game noise. The squad will return to Lawrence just after noon Saturday. Sikes said this practice will be followed in all six home games this year.

Races Depend On Philadelphia

Shantz, Roberts Are Pennant Factors

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's two top pitchers—Philadelphia's Robin Roberts and Bobby Shantz—figure to be the key men in the twin battles for the major league pennants.

Neither Roberts of the Phils nor Shantz of the Athletics harbors any hopes of pitching in a World Series game this fall, but both are in a position to be the guys who can decide who will.

A look at the tense pennant races, together with a scrutiny of the balance of the schedule explains why.

Three games separate the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants in the National League race. Each team has nine games to play. The Giants must face the Phillies six more times three in Philadelphia and three in New York. That means they will see Roberts twice. The Dodgers have three games with the Phillies, all in Brooklyn. Undoubtedly, Roberts will oppose them in one of the games.

In the American League, the front running New York Yankees lead the Cleveland Indians by 2½ games with nine to play. Six of these are against the tough Athletics. Barring illness or injury, Shantz will be firing at them twice, one in Philadelphia and once in New York.

Roberts, probably the No. 1 pitcher in the game, figures to be tougher than ever to beat. With 25 games already in the bag, baseball's biggest winner is eager to pick up three more victories. That would make him the biggest winner in the National League since Dizzy Dean hung up 30 for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934.

The big pitcher has been practically invincible against Brooklyn this year. He's already whipped the Brooks five for five, thrice at Ebbets' Field, where he is slated to oppose them next Wednesday.

The 25-year-old strong armed righthander has not been so fortunate against the Giants, who have beaten him three out of four this year.

The Yankees have no illusions about their two meetings with Shantz. They know the little southpaw is going to be as tough as ever to beat.

Although they've beaten him three times, they have not forgotten the 12-0 whipping he administered to them June 28, nor the 2-1 licking he gave them in 14 innings on May 30, and his 3-1 five-hit triumph over them before that.

Then, too, like Roberts, Bobby also has an incentive. He wants to be the first Philadelphia pitcher since Lefty Grove to win 25 games. Grove won that many in 1932. Shantz, with 23, needs two more.

Yanks' Whitey Ford Up For Discharge

FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. (AP)—Whitey Ford, who helped pitch the New York Yankees to a four game victory for the 1950 World Series will be discharged from the Army Nov. 19.

The Army said his service period will have been completed then.

Ford racked up a 9-1, 1950 record for the Yankees. He was inducted into the Army after the 1950 World Series.

NBC Will Televise All World Series Games

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company again will telecast the World Series over its coast to coast network. The chain said Thursday the telecasts will start at 12:45 p.m., on weekdays, and an hour later on Sunday.

Bulldogs-Beatrice Tilt Could Shape Class A Picture

Gate City Clubs Set For Season Openers Tonight

By JIM CLARK
Star Sports Staff Member

GRID fans in the eastern part of the state will get a chance to observe one of the potentially strong western powers in action tonight when the North Platte Bulldogs visit the premises of the Beatrice Orangemen.

The outcome of this intersectional clash should be the yardstick for determining the pole positions of the top five Class A teams in the state when the Lincoln Star's rating system goes into effect Monday morning.

The Bulldogs rolled merrily through their opening encounter by pasting Kearney 27-0, while at the same time, Beatrice was being blanked by the same score by the Northeast Rockets.

Defending Champion Lincoln High will be testing the prowess of one of Iowa's top football powers when West Waterloo invades the Links' oval for the first meeting in history of the two teams.

With Minden dropping the remainder of its grid slate due to the polio epidemic, Broken Bow looms as the strongest contender for the top rung in the Class B ratings on the eve of the Indians' tilt at Ravenna. Broken Bow is still smarting from its upset win over Lexington last week, while Ravenna poses little threat to the Indians' bid after suffering a 44-0 whitewashing at the hands of Minden.

In the Gate City, North, South and Creighton Prep will be getting their first taste of competition after having idle dates last week.

North, the third rate power in the state last fall, will be playing host to Grand Island in what should prove to be another of the week's thrillers. Although making their first start, the Vikings should have enough experience carried over from last year to make their 1952 debut a successful one.

Central will be playing a much improved Benson eleven and it looks like Coach Frank Smagacz may be still looking for his initial win from his new post. Last week, amid the mud and water laden field, the Eagles gave up a 6-0 decision to Lincoln High.

South has a date at Creighton Prep in a battle that is rated as a tossup since neither team has shown its wares this season.

Stepping down into the six-man ranks, Coach Dick Clayton will be sending his Palisade Panthers into battle with Stratton in a tilt that shouldn't hamper the Panthers' bid for top honors.

Always a dangerous opponent, Lawrence should make its second outing, at Riverton, just as enjoyable as the Panthers' 50-0 spanking of Alexandria last week.

62 School Bands Selected For Parade

Bands Left Out In '51 Got 1st Chance

High school bandsmen—3,242 strong—will participate in the annual University of Nebraska Band Day Oct. 11 in conjunction with the Kansas State-Nebraska football game.

A parade through Lincoln's business district in the morning will precede the massing of the 62 bands and the University of Nebraska band in a half-time spectacle on the gridiron. In addition there will be 301 baton twirlers.

The 62 bands selected this year include organizations rejected in 1951 because of limited space, Don Lentz, director of Band Day, explained. In 1951, 120 bands applied for Band Day and only 60 were chosen. This year invitations were sent to all bands not accepted last year.

Several bands which never have participated in Band Day will be present this year, Lentz said.

Following are the units selected for this year:

Albion	Kearney
Arapahoe	Kimball
Arcadia	Lincoln High
Ashland	Lexington
Aurora	Lincoln Northeast
Auburn	Loup City
Beaver City	Madison
Bertrand	Minden
Big Springs	Nebraska City
Blue Hill	Nemaha

Man Sues For $25,000 After Pants Catch Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—Allen Schmitt, whose pants caught fire while he was riding on a bus, sued for $25,000 damages Thursday.

The suit, filed in Superior Court against the bus-operating Chicago Transit Authority, set forth:

Schmitt was asleep on the bus Aug. 12 and awoke to find his trousers afire. He doesn't know how the fire started, but the bus was so crowded he suffered second degree burns before he could remove his pants.

NEW RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR —George N. Zarubin smiles Thursday, facing reporters at the State Department after he had called on Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Zarubin has taken over as the new Russian ambassador to the United States. Later, he will present his credentials to President Truman at the White House. (AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

Frances Alda, Soprano, Dies

VENICE (INS)—Frances Alda, whose soprano voice thrilled and whose fiery temperament startled the opera world of another generation for a quarter of a century, died suddenly of a cerebral hemorhage Thursday at the age of 67.

The idol of the Metropolitan Opera's Golden Age, who made her debut at the Opera Comique in Paris in 1904, made her final exit at Venice's Excelsior Hotel.

Her second husband, New York advertising executive Ray Vir Den, was at her side.

RUSS WARNING SAID GIVEN TO AFGHANISTAN

TORKHAM, Afgran-Pakistan Border (AP)—Russia has told Afghanistan "in the most threatening manner" to keep U.N. and U.S. technical advisers out of its northern provinces bordering Soviet Asia, reliable reports said Thursday night.

Highly placed Afghan sources said the government is deeply concerned over the Russian demands. There was no official comment, however.

The area complained of lies between the towering Hindu Kush mountain range and the Oxus River where several U.S. and U.N. technical developments projects are going on to aid Afghanistan develop natural resources. Among the projects is a search for oil.

NU Plans New High School Unit

Construction To Begin On Campus Next Year

A new Teachers College High School will be the next building constructed on the University of Nebraska campus, according to John K. Selleck, comptroller and secretary of the Board of Regents.

Floor plans for the building have been completed by the College of Architecture, but will be studied further by N. F. Thorpe, Teachers High principal, and his staff, before they are turned over to a commercial architectural company in the near future.

Construction date has been tentatively set for next summer with occupancy "hoped for" by the Fall semester, 1954, Thorpe said.

Proposed sites for the new building are east of Bancroft School on 15th street, or the University-owned field north of Vine and west of the Sigma Chi house.

The principal said the "proposed floor plans" include 18 general and special purpose classrooms, laboratories, two science laboratories, auditorium and gymnasium.

The three-floor "up-to-date" plant would have two ground levels and include necessary facilities for a "six-year high school program—grades seven through twelve."

Included would be facilities for speech, home • economics, shop work, and some special facilities needed as a "teacher-training high school."

The new building, as proposed, will accommodate an enrollment of 250 to 300 students, as compared with the present Teachers High controlled enrollment of 200.

Thorpe said the "architecture of the building hadn't been determined, but would probably not follow the general style of the University's buildings."

However, final plans must be approved by a special University building committee, he added.

Lynch Estate $45,060

The estate of Trix Lyda Lynch, who died in Lincoln on June 1, has been appraised at $45,060.83, according to an appraisal filed in County Court.

Items in the appraisal include stocks and mortgages valued at $41,356.96, bank accounts totaling $2,544.87, and U.S. Government bonds at $149.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Yesterday's Answer

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

A lady in Miami wants to divorce her husband because he made her walk several paces behind him. . .Usually a wife complains "there's no telling what he's doing behind my back."

☆ ☆ ☆

Here's a fellow walks ahead of his wife so that complaint won't be raised and he gets the reverse twist.

Kiernan

☆ ☆ ☆

A man might have several reasons for walking ahead of his wife. . . .protecting the budget for one.

☆ ☆ ☆

A man walking beside his wife is vulnerable for a fast elbow jab into a store where she saw "that little frock and so inexpensive."

☆ ☆ ☆

If he's walking behind her, first comes the fast block, then the turn into the store.

☆ ☆ ☆

But if he steps out several paces ahead he could get through a whole Florida season without having been detoured.

☆ ☆ ☆

I'll be in Miami in a week to test out my theory and will render a later report.

QUIRKS

CHICAGO —Lawyers reported that a problem in matrimonial mathematics prescribed by a divorce court judge has worked out well for 27-year-old Roger Hathorn.

Roger, a radio time salesman, had been sued for divorce by his 22-year-old wife, Katheryn, who charged cruelty.

He told Circuit Judge Leonard C. Reid at a hearing a few weeks ago that his trouble started when his wife's mother, Mrs. Katherine McElroy, from Milwaukee, arrived for an extended visit and forced him to sleep on a couch. He said he started staying out late.

Judge Reid advised him to "be nice to your-in-law and she might move out voluntarily and then maybe you can win her daughter back again."

Circuit Judge Julius H. Miner dismissed the divorce suit when lawyers advised that the couple had become reconciled and that Mrs. McElroy had agreed to return to Milwaukee.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Spiritless Market Sags Quietly

NEW YORK (AP)—There wasn't much spirit to the stock market Thursday, and it sagged quietly.

Losses never were very large—a little better than a point at the most in active areas—and at the same time there were some good fractional gains.

The entire performance was in a way a holding operation with the market doing its best against mild profit taking to hold on to the gains racked up in the two previous sessions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 10 cents at $105.60 with the industrial component off 30 cents, the railroads unchanged and the utilities off 10 cents.

The list narrowed down to 1,043 individual issues on the tape as compared with 1,083 issues traded Wednesday.

A narrow margin separated gains and losses. Around 33 per cent (342) issues advanced and about 38 per cent (396) declined. There were 21 new highs and 32 new lows for the year touched during the session.

Volume came to 1,030,000 shares Thursday against Wednesday's even million.

Stocks on the curb exchange were mixed with trading amounting to 270,000 shares as compared with 240,000 shares traded Wednesday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Long-term U. S. Government Bonds slipped sharply Thursday, while the corporate bond market inched forward. Much investor attention centered on a giant financing venture by Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Though short-term Treasury obligations were steady and intermediates dipped only minor fractions, Government Bonds maturing in 10 years or more fell from 6/32 to 10/32 of a point.

Bank-eligible 2½s were 10/32 lower at 96 20/32 bid. Victory 2½s declined 8/32 at 96 18/32 bid. And the new 2¾s were 1/32 lower at 99 16/32 bid.

Wheat, Beans Up As Others Falter

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans and wheat ended mostly higher while corn, oats and rye lost ground on the board of trade.

Main feature of the day's activities was a sudden upturn in soybeans in the closing minutes. They had been lower most of the session.

The advance was sparked by aggressive short-covering in the September contract, up more than 5 cents from its low of the day.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅝ higher, corn 1⅜ lower to ¼ higher, oats ⅛-⅝ lower, rye 1½ to 2⅛ lower, soybeans unchanged to 3½ higher and lard unchanged to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Dismissals Equal New Cases In City Hospital Polio Count

Six new cases, tentatively diagnosed as polio, were entered in Lincoln hospitals Thursday while at the same time six dismissals were reported, according to Morris Siegel, Lancaster County Polio Chapter chairman.

Among the new cases were two Lincolnites. Hospitalized at St. Elizabeth Hospital were Mrs. Denise Strand, 37, 1002 So. 33rd, and Miss Jessie Furrow, 13, 937 Belmont.

Out-of-town patients were:

Miss Sandra H. Schroer, 11, Kearney; St. Elizabeth.

Rodney Welander, 5, Colon, a nephew of Mrs. Donna Welander, who was recently hospitalized for polio, Lincoln General.

Miss Carole Diefenderfer, 17, Falls City, Lincoln General.

Ben Rolfsmeier, 48, Seward, Bryan Memorial.

The six dismissals, all from Orthopedic, represent "about the best day we've had," Siegel said.

The chapter chairman reported that an emergency call from Kansas City, Mo., for iron lungs had to be refused Thursday. Lincoln's 21 lungs are loaded and the chapter has asked for two iron lungs to be brought from Omaha, said Siegel.

He added that a shortage of portable lungs here is likely to become more critical as patients are removed from the large iron lungs. Siegel expects orders for the portable type to be filled by a manufacturer soon.

Twenty-eight new polio cases were reported Thursday to the State Health Department making the state total for the year of 1,375.

Late Reporting

Department officials noted that daily figures do not reflect an accurate picture due to late reporting of new cases. Cited as an example is the eight cases reported from Gage County which they said represented more than one day's total.

The U. S. Public Health Service reports that Nebraska leads the nation in polio incidence with a record 98.8 cases per 100 thousand population.

A record increase for the fourth week in a row in the nation shows polio cases running 8 per cent higher than in 1949, previously the worst year.
